

SAMPLE QUESTIONS: ENGLISH LANGUAGE SKILLS ASSESSMENT (ELSA)

The English Language Skills Assessment (ELSA) consists of two separate tests of academic language skills:

- The Accuplacer Reading Comprehension placement test
- The Accuplacer Sentence Skills placement test

ACCUPLACER READING COMPREHENSION TEST

The 20 questions in this test are of two main types:

1. Read a Passage: You will receive a written passage followed by a question based on the passage. Both short and long passages are provided. You may be asked to classify the reading passage according to the kind of information processing required—for example, explicit statements related to the main idea, those related to a secondary idea, their application, and inference.
2. Sentence relationships: You will receive two sentences followed by a question about the relationship between them. For example, you may be asked if the statement in the second sentence supports the statement in the first, if it contradicts it, or if it repeats the same information.

SAMPLE QUESTIONS

Directions for Questions 1 to 6: Read the statement or passage and then choose the best answer to the question. Answer the question based on what is stated or implied in the statement or passage.

1. In the words of Thomas DeQuincey, “It is notorious that the memory strengthens as you lay burdens upon it.” If, like most people, you have trouble recalling the names of those you have just met, try this: The next time you are introduced, plan to remember the names. Say to yourself, “I’ll listen carefully; I’ll repeat each person’s name to be sure I’ve got it, and I will remember.” You’ll discover how effective this technique is and probably recall those names for the rest of your life.
The main idea of the paragraph maintains that the memory
A. always operates at peak efficiency.
B. breaks down under great strain.
C. improves if it is used often.
D. becomes unreliable if it tires.
2. Unemployment was the overriding fact of life when Franklin D. Roosevelt became president of the United States on March 4, 1933. An anomaly of the time was that the government did not systematically collect statistics of joblessness; actually it did not start doing so until 1940. The Bureau of Labor Statistics later estimated that 12,830,000 persons were out of work in 1933, about one-fourth of a civilian labor force of more than 51 million.
Roosevelt signed the Federal Emergency Relief Act on May 12, 1933. The president selected Harry L. Hopkins, who headed the New York relief program, to run FERA. A gifted administrator, Hopkins quickly put the program into high gear. He gathered a small staff in Washington and brought the state relief organizations into the FERA system. While the agency tried to provide all the necessities, food came first. City dwellers usually got an allowance for fuel, and rent for one month was provided in case of eviction.

This passage is primarily about

- A. unemployment in the 1930s.
 - B. the effect of unemployment on United States families.
 - C. President Franklin D. Roosevelt's presidency.
 - D. President Roosevelt's FERA program.
3. It is said that a smile is universally understood. And nothing triggers a smile more universally than a taste of sugar. Nearly everyone loves sugar. Infant studies indicate that humans are born with an innate love of sweets. Based on statistics, a lot of people in Great Britain must be smiling because on average, every man, woman, and child in that country consumes 95 pounds of sugar each year.
- From this passage it seems safe to conclude that the English
- A. do not know that too much sugar is unhealthy.
 - B. eat desserts at every meal.
 - C. are fonder of sweets than most people.
 - D. have more cavities than any other people.
4. With varying success, many women around the world today struggle for equal rights. Historically, women have achieved greater equality with men during periods of social adversity. The following factors initiated the greatest number of improvements for women: violent revolution, world war, and the rigors of pioneering in an undeveloped land. In all three cases, the essential element that improved the status of women was a shortage of men, which required women to perform many of society's vital tasks.
- We can conclude from the information in this passage that
- A. women today are highly successful in winning equal rights.
 - B. only pioneer women have been considered equal to men.
 - C. historically, women have only achieved equality through force.
 - D. historically, the principle of equality alone has not been enough to secure women equal rights.
5. In 1848, Charles Burton of New York City made the first baby carriage, but people strongly objected to the vehicles because they said the carriage operators hit too many pedestrians. Still convinced that he had a good idea, Burton opened a factory in England. He obtained orders for the baby carriages from Queen Isabella II of Spain, Queen Victoria of England, and the Pasha of Egypt. The United States had to wait another 10 years before it got a carriage factory, and only 75 carriages were sold in the first year.
- Even after the success of baby carriages in England,
- A. Charles Burton was a poor man.
 - B. Americans were still reluctant to buy baby carriages.
 - C. Americans purchased thousands of baby carriages.
 - D. the United States bought more carriages than any other country.
6. All water molecules form six-sided structures as they freeze and become snow crystals. The shape of the crystal is determined by temperature, vapor, and wind conditions in the upper atmosphere. Snow crystals are always symmetrical because these conditions affect all six sides simultaneously.

The purpose of the passage is to present

- A. a personal observation.
- B. a solution to a problem.
- C. actual information.
- D. opposing scientific theories.

Directions for questions 7–10: For the questions that follow, two underlined sentences are followed by a question or statement. Read the sentences, then choose the best answer to the question or the best completion of the statement.

ACCUPLACER SENTENCE SKILLS TEST

The 20 questions in this test are of two main types:

1. Sentence Correction: These questions require an understanding of sentence structure. You are asked to choose the most appropriate word or phrase for the underlined portion of the sentence.
2. Construction Shift: These questions ask you to rewrite a sentence according to the criteria shown, while keeping the same meaning as the original sentence.

Within these two main categories, the questions are also classified by the skills being tested. Some questions deal with the logic of a sentence. Some focus on whether the answer is a complete sentence. Others consider the relationship between coordination and subordination.
