Lean Startup

A new type of thinking about starting a business has become popular in recent years. It is called the 'Lean Startup' approach.

'Lean Startup' emphasizes concepts such as defining value, minimizing waste, deploying a minimal viable product, and using a build-measure-learn approach to improving your product and growing your business.

To learn more about the 'Lean Startup' philosophy, check out the links to the right.

BUSINESS RELATIONSHIPS ARE MORE THAN A ROLODEX

Business Relationships – More Than A Rolodex

Your Fellow Business People Might Be Able To:

- Share their business advice and experience.
- Provide leads to people, information or resources.
- Help with money or financing for your business.
- Refer customers to your business.
- Direct you to job opportunities for your business.
- Help you find business partners, coworkers or employees.
- Create more contacts for you through people they know.

Develop Good Relationships By:

- Networking! Get out to events and meet with people.
- Staying in touch. Follow up on what contacts are doing.
- Building trust. Never take advantage of someone.
- Showing a genuine interest in people. Learn what's important to them. Listen to them. Ask questions.
- Being the first to act or do a favor. A giving attitude is rewarded with relationships more than a taking attitude. Give more than asked.
- Focusing on quality of relationships, not quantity. Be open to all, but invest in the relationships that are mutually beneficial.

Don't Make These Mistakes:

- Being impersonal (all business, all the time).
- Not showing appreciation.
- Forgetting to update people who have helped you on how things are going.
- Being inconsistent in how you treat people.
- Acting unprofessionally when things don't go as expected.
- Not admitting your mistakes.
- Not being careful in what you say or how you say it.
- Surrounding yourself with untrustworthy people.
- Keeping too many secrets. People trust transparency.

BUSINESS STRUCTURE

The business structure you choose will have legal and tax implications. The links to the right provide more information and help on this important topic. Do your research, seek the advice of an accountant or attorney, and pick the structure that will work best for you and your business.

When you're ready, register your business structure at SilverFlume, Nevada's only online portal to handle all your licensing and registration needs in one place. Click the SilverFlume button to get started.

Back to Guide Menu

A service provided by the Nevada Secretary of State.

NAMING YOUR BUSINESS

When you set up and license your business at SilverFlume, you will establish a legal name for the business. Be sure to select a name that is not already being used in the state. You can check existing business names using SilverFlume's "Nevada Business Search" feature.

After establishing the legal entity name, you can use another name for the business by filing a Fictitious Firm Name Form (also known as a "Doing Business As" or "DBA" form) with the county in which you plan to do business under that different name. For information on county DBA filings, use SilverFlume or the map on the Business Licensing Page in this Guide to connect with the filing contacts for each Nevada county. See the buttons below to get started.

After establishing a legal entity name and DBA name, you might want to reserve a web domain name if you plan to have an online presence for your business. For help with that, go to the Getting Help topic of this Guide, click on the button for the U.S. Small Business Administration's "10 Steps to Start," and read Step 6.

BUSINESS LOCATION

Where you open shop can play a critical role in the success or failure of your business operation. For tips on handling this aspect of your business, click on the links to the right.

BEFORE locating your business anywhere in Nevada, first verify the zoning requirements of the jurisdiction in which you want to put it and then ask whether the jurisdiction offers any programs or incentives for locating the business in certain redevelopment areas.

Use the map on the Licensing Page of this Guide to connect with the jurisdiction(s) you are considering.

OTHER LICENSES & PERMITS

Depending on the type of business you plan to operate, you may need other licenses or permits in addition to your business license. These other licenses or permits typically fall into one of three categories: Professional, Environmental, and Public Health.

For example, certain professions require a license from a special board before you can do business in Nevada. Some businesses require environmental permits to address air, water or hazardous waste aspects of the business operation. Other activities may require public health licenses or permits to ensure public safety.

To learn about these categories and whether any of their requirements might apply to you, click the buttons on the right.

MARKETS & MARKETING

To start or grow a business, you need to understand your market. What need does your product or service satisfy? Who and where are the customers for that? How do you reach them? Do you plan to export/import? And so on.

Data resources can help you figure things out. Then, once you understand your market, you'll want a marketing plan to guide sales of your product/service into that market and to customers. Help exists for export/import issues.

For information pertaining to data resources, marketing, and export/import, click the applicable button to the right.

Marketing

A business, product or service seldom sells itself. Think about what you are selling. Think about who will need it or want it. Why will they need it or want it? Why should they buy it from you? Think about how and where you tell that story. Put together an outline of your thoughts. This is the start of your marketing plan.

Click on the “Basics of a Marketing Plan” button for more information on developing a plan. To learn more about marketing challenges in the 21st century, click on the “Marketing Tools and Tips” button.

FOCUS ON:

- ✓ YOUR BUSINESS GOAL
- ✓ YOUR CUSTOMER AND AUDIENCE
- ✓ YOUR MARKETING BUDGET
- ✓ YOUR UNIQUE SELLING PROPOSITION
- ✓ YOUR MARKETING TOOLS AND TACTICS
- ✓ HOW YOU WILL MEASURE OUTCOMES

BUT REMEMBER:

THE PLAN IS ONLY A GUIDE

The Basics of a Marketing Plan

Your Plan Should Identify Six Things:

- Your Mission or Vision Statement
- Your Company Objective
- Your Market Environment – Research and Analysis
- Your Target Customers – Research and Analysis
- Your Competition and How They Match Up to You – Research and Analysis
- Your Action Plan

The “Action Plan” is About Media Mix:

- What media tools are best for reaching your target customers
- Advertising, public relations, sales strategies – all of these tools (and more) need to be considered, studied and figured out.
- Research and analysis are critical to putting the pieces together in a way that will work for your business objective, market environment and target customers.
- Your own insight into customers, environment, and competition is important too. Ask intelligent questions, be open to facts that may be different than you expected, and adjust accordingly.

Marketing Tips:

- Have a clear intention – know what you want to be, do, or have.
- Take consistent action – do the things necessary to achieve the desired outcome.
- Transform your passion into a market position.
- Market position evolves from your understanding the defining characteristics of your product or service. The primary elements of positioning are Pricing, Quality, Customer Service, Distribution and Packaging.
- You must define your product or service – or a competitor will do it for you.
- Identify your greatest strength and use it to position your product or service.

Export/Import

You may want to export or import with your business. If so, federal, state and local resources are available to help. For example, Nevada is home to two Foreign Trade Zones, two Ports of Entry, and two Export Assistance Centers to assist with international trade.

To learn the basics, start with the USA.Gov button at the top right. Then, depending on what you want to do, you can review the other links for assistance on specific issues such as exporting, importing, financing transactions, getting training, etc.
