      - Use a password with a mix of letters, numbers and symbols
      - Create a password that's hard for others to guess

This is a close-up of the sign-up form fields. It shows the 'Name' section with two input boxes for 'Your First Name' and 'Your Last Name'. Below that is the 'Choose your username' section with an input box containing 'examplehiset' and a dropdown menu showing '@gmail.com'. The 'Create a password' section has an input box with a masked password represented by dots.
