REVIEW OF ASTRONOMY WORKSHEETS HOMESCHOOL ACADEMY

- The characters in Berry's novel seem to be computer generated, as does the story itself. Once again, the evil Catholic Church has hidden the "truth" from a blind & stupid laity, who must be recued by the liberal elite. Those priests, bishops & nuns who have failed to live up to their vows due to their exclusive knowledge of what "Truth" is, i.e. "situational". Berry quotes extensively from scripture in this piece of work. He even quotes a scripture that makes his whole story just plain silly. "What you loose on earth will be loosed in heaven & what you bind on earth, will be bound in heaven." Guess he overlooked that one because, after all, most of us loyal to the Church, are too dumb & blind to "catch it". I'm an old woman now, so I'll just stick to my ongoing conversations with Jesus through the Eucharist, the rosary, & just plain "listening". By the way Steve, Jesus loves you...but, He's not too fond of the way you presented His Mother. Kathleen RineyTroy, Tx.

- Chekhov's plays work on many different levels. On the one it is the story of the characters' relationships to each other. Often in Chekhov there is disillusionment and disappointment, misunderstanding and desire unrealized. Often too the characters have ideas and dreams about themselves which simply do not find their justification in the world. But in all this there is always interspersed moments of tenderness and poignancy, of delicate feeling, perceptions of beauty. On another level there are 'major themes'. Here it is of the Old Order passing and the coming of the new. The 'Cherry Orchard' is the symbol of this. And the purchase of it by the former serf Lopahin is the sign of the transition taking place in Russia. The old order people, Ranskanaya her daughters and brother cling to the older world, refuse to sell it out by accepting the offer to build on it dachas, and connect it with the railway line. But in the end the extravagance of Ranskaya is forced to yield, and the 'Cherry Orchard' is cut down. In the final moments of the play the elderly servant Firs, the true symbol of the one raised in the old order and too deeply connected to it, to ever leave it, lies down and seems to pass away. Chekhov's art is an art of sadness and beauty, of cruelty and change, but above all of human character and feeling portrayed in complexity and contradiction- and in a language of poetic compression deep in feeling.
