

Story Starters

Sometimes, pictures can inspire us to write poems or stories. Take a look at the picture above. What do you think happened before and after? Has something similar happened to you? How did you react? Think about these questions as you write a short poem or story about this picture.