There were 1,166,120 Garcions in the 2010 Census. But along the last season, there were more than 3,557,293 Davids and more than 1,410,059 barbars. Love them or hate them, the British Real Family has been the inspiration for the names of the babies. There were 3,662,399 Williams born between 1918 and 2017 and 1,443,415 Elizabeths. Good luck keeping up with Jones, however; There were 1,425,470 such in 2010. The most common last name in 2010 was Brown, with 1,437,026 occurrences. Michael and Linda were the fourth most common names of the sessor before 2018. There were 4,315,462 and 1,448,097 of these, respectively. Robert and Jennifer are very versatile names. The diminutives include Rob, Bob, Robbie, Bobby and Jen, Jenna, Jenny and Jennie. This can be why they are so popular. From all babies born 1918-2017, 4,571,203 (2.63 percent) were called Robert, while 1,465,928 (0.86 percent) of all girls were called Jennifer. 1,625,252 people had the Surname Williams in 2010. Okay, so you can not find John Johnsons; But both take the number two. A total of 2.64% of Baby Boys (4,594,023 born in the last month) received the name John, and the last census registered 1,932,812 supernomes like Johnson. The 1,564,163 Patricias (Pat, Patty, Trisha, Trixie) represent 0.92% of all female births between 1918 and 2017. No surprise here: Smith is by far the most common name in the USA. In the 2010 Census, 2,442,977 of them were counted. James and Mary are the earliest common names. But while there were only 198,931 more James than Johns born in 1918-2017, there were 1,829,293 more maria than Patricias. The 3,393,456 fantarymeas called Maria Acc0ted for 2% of all born.
