Look for the DWYM seal for products that are the best in the category. We looked at the top Hunting Scopes and dug through the reviews from some of the most popular review sites. Through this analysis, we've determined the best Hunting Scope you should buy. Editor's Note March 1, 2021:Checkout The Best Hunting Scope for a detailed review of all the top hunting scopes. The bonded coatings on this hunting scope are fade-resistant and won't wear down over time. In addition to being durable, this model features multi-colored lenses that allow 95% light transmission. Your view will remain bright and colorful. As an added bonus, this scope placed 4th when we looked at the top 10 products in the category. For the full ranking, see below. Feature: Eye Relief: 3.52 Inches. Exit Pupil: 5.1-16.9mm. Illuminated Level: 5 Intensity (Red) and 5 Intensity (Red) weaver dovetail rail only The Magnification range on this one is 6-24X and it comes with red or green illuminated reticle which has incredible focus ability that can adjust for even near sighted or far sighted shooters to use without wearing glasses. The magnification range is 6x to 24x. The multicoated lens allows for 90% light transmission, and there are both red and green illuminated reticle options for use under any daylight or low lighting conditions. The click value of the adjustment knobs is 1/8th of an inch at 100 yards. This particular one is for someone looking for a relatively affordable scope with all the basic features and also performs well. It offers 6-24x magnification, a 50mm objective diameter and a field of view of 28 feet when at 100 yards away. Also, this red and green illuminated scope comes with a free mount. The scope is easy to adjust and once you have sighted it, you'll be able to consistently hit the target. The build is sturdy and the scope won't let you down. The turrets are easy to adjust and capped. The CVLIFE Optics Hunting Rifle Scope 6-24×50 is a very good rifle scope. It mounts very easily, sight is very clear and it provides a bright field view such that you can lock the turrets to prevent loss of zero-ability. It's certainly built with the avid hunter in mind. It has 11 settings that range from either using black or red illumined red setting or green. This scope has some solid features but it doesn't outperform other high-end scopes at high magnification. This is a common caveat with budget scopes when compared to high-end brands. Don't let this turn you off from the amount of money you're going to save while still getting a great scope. CVLIFE delivers sharp, bright images regardless of the environmental light conditions thanks to the high-end brands. quality Kellner eyepiece. The wide field of view is guaranteed by the 50mm objective lens that eliminates most of the image aberrations. Ideal for both short and long range shooting, this scope has a maximum magnification of 24X. Clocking at a low price, this rather well-rated illuminated reticle scope features red or green reticles, a built in range finder, water, fog and shockproof construction, 6-24 power magnification and a huge 50mm objective lens. This hunting scope is well-built; made of durable aluminum alloy with zooming quality, protective lens and illuminated green and red mil-dot. Hunters can control the brightness with the help of 5 level brightness control. The rifle is easy to mount and offers a clear sight with bright field view so that user can padlock the steeples to avoid zero-ability loss. Will need adjustments after recoil The one negative aspect we came across is focused on the zoom. People are saying it isn't a true x24 zoom when compared to other brands like a Nikon x24. Each year approximately 15 million Americans participate in the sport of hunting. If you find yourself among them, you'll need to make sure you have the proper gear. The second most important piece of equipment besides your hunting rifle is a scope. This tool allows you to narrow in on your target for more accurate results. Before comparing hunting scope features, you need to ensure that the scope is compatible with your specific rifle. Once you confirm that it is, you can move on to the scope's construction materials. You want a model that's designed to last. One made of a high-strength aircraft aluminum is a good choice. Others have sealants that make them shockproof, fog-proof and rainproof. Review the lens next. A multi-colored lens is best, as it eliminates glare and provides a higher light transmission than a simple blue light. Some models are equipped with as many as five illumination modes, so that's another element you may wish to look for. Check for easy-to-use wind and elevation adjustments. These are essential when it comes to helping your bullet reach the target. You'll also want an eyepiece with quick and easy reticle focusing, so that you never miss a shot. Don't forget to take a look at the adjustable objective. Some models offer a range of 15 yards to infinity, while others have a starting range of just 3 yards. Long eye relief and an ultra-forgiving eye box are also essential, as you don't want to put your eyes in unnecessary danger. Dirt and smudges can really affect how well you see through the hunting scope's lens, especially if the lighting levels are low. Some scopes come with their own cleaning cloth. If your model doesn't, you'll need to look for a lint-free cloth that you can use to clean the scope. Starting with a soft-bristle brush is best, as this tool works well to dislodge any dirt or debris. Afterward, wipe down the lens with the cleaning cloth. It's best to wipe in a circular motion. Scopes that are more than just a little dirty may need an anti-fog liquid lens cleaner and a lens cleaning tissue to get the job done. Always apply the liquid to the cleaning tissue and then wipe down your lens. Never drip the liquid directly onto the lens afterward with a clean, dry, lint-free cloth. While there is always the option to pay a gunsmith to mount the scope to your rifle, it is a task you can complete on your own. Start off by mounting the scope low and then checking that the eye relief doesn't smack into your nose. Now you can align the base and tighten the scope. Finally, you'll need to mount the rings, check the alignment and position the scope. If you run into any trouble mounting your scope, check YouTube for step-by-step videos that you can follow. Sometimes seeing someone complete the task helps. Size, construction materials and the number of features all come in to play when pricing hunting scopes. The CVLIFE Hunting Rifle Scope and the CVLIFE Illuminated Scope are among the most budget-friendly options. You'll pay a moderate cost for the UTG BugBuster Scope, while the Vortex Optics Crossfire II Riflescopes is able to command a higher price. CVLIFE 6-24×50 review, we will show you that you can get a premium scope at affordable prices. the answer in the following sections: Affordability Hunters prefer this scope over other scopes because of the quality it provides in the price range. It's a hot favorite for the low-end scope from the most excellent in the hunting business. Magnification While we are searching for the technical specifications, it stuns us to observe that you find a rifle scope with an impressive magnification with a 50 mm objective. If you set a quicker look, you see that the price is low and it's not a lousy scope. Packaging and Components CVLIFE 6-24 comes in nice black packaging, you'll find a nice cleaning cloth. You'd be amazed to know that you will get a free mount with the package. The scope is covered with bubble wrap so that it is protected from any sort of outside damage. It also offers you a nice lens cover with which you'll be able to keep the lenses clean and scratch-free. With the rifle scope, you are also getting a CR 2032 scope battery. Instruction ManualOne thing that we find negative about this scope is to doesn't come with any instruction manuals. If you're a newcomer in the field of rifling then you may find it difficult to mount the scope to your rifle. Illumination while buying scopes, well CVLIFE 6-24 is giving you illuminated reticle both in green and Red. Eye Relief, soften considered before getting a quality rifle scope. With most of the lower-priced scopes, the reticle jobs are fantastic for unusual lighting circumstances. The brightest setting is somewhat overwhelming until you connect a battery. Formerly the riflescope is displayed in; it remains zero. I hold my hunting rifle by the CVLIFE scope and have no issues with the precision. Adjustable Objective Parenthetically, the AO of this scope does obtain quite hard to spin in the cold weather. This is an excellent point as it heats the AO won't be able to shift on you while you fire the rifle. Weather Conditions We've applied the rifle scope in different kinds of climate conditions, in light rain and a cold-weather mix, in light snow and fog as well. I've no smog or lucidity concerns. Rifles Last of all if you're heading for an amount this scope on a Magnum Spring Rifle, keep yourself an annoyance and purchase a Magnum Spring ring mount. These rifles contain a trend to demolish many rifle scopes unless you are using specific Ring Mounts. READ Benefits of Having A Gun Safe Door Organizer - 5 Proven StpesMountinglf you aim at mount this scope to the Barrel Breach, you'll spoil it while attempting to angle the rifle scope mount single mark ahead of middle on the Pica tinny rail. This job will poise the rifle scope just fine for most of the applications. You need to confirm that the rifle is level. Also, try to level the scope, and make tighter down the mount twists in a spiral outline. Adjustments you're getting multiple adjustments. The scope has crosshairs installed so you'll be able to function without batteries as well. Even though the riflescope is planned for a hunting scope, however, it employs fine for every kind of shooting. It is quite long. So you'll require to be cautious. Turrets of this scope are user-friendly and give you positive clicks. You should be able to adjust the turrets without much hesitation. Quality of the scope's glass is phenomenal at such a price. Drawbacks as well. First of all, the zoom as you might have guessed is not bad, but never equal to the same magnification rate of Nikon or Leupold. So, you may not get a true 24x with this economic choice, but what it offers at the price point is quite good IMO. Secondly, focusing can get a bit difficult and boring as you'll have to focus every distance you wish to shoot at. So, there is room for improvement here. Lastly, It's better to have extra pair batteries in case if you run out of your previous battery. Unboxing of CVLIFE 6-24×50 AOE Hunting Rifle Scopel have found this unboxing video for your help.
