

Faculty Position Master of Public Health

Position Title:

Assistant Professor, Tenure-Earning

Position Description:

The Master of Public Health Program at the University of West Florida, a comprehensive/regional institution, invites applications for a 9-month Assistant Professor position starting August 8, 2014. Applicants for this position in the totally online Master of Public Health program must have a terminal degree in public health or closely related area. If the terminal degree is in an area other than public health the applicant must have an MPH from a CEPH-accredited program and public health experience. Online teaching experience is preferred. Responsibilities include teaching three courses in the fall and spring semesters with an anticipation for compensated teaching and advising during the summer when funds are available. A strong background in biostatistics and epidemiology is preferred. The successful applicant is expected to engage in student advising, development and oversight of internships, recruitment and retention activities as well as service to the University. Salary is commensurate with experience.

Applicants are to apply online at <https://jobs/uwf.edu>, the website of Human Resources at the University of West Florida. Be prepared to upload your curriculum vitae, letter of application/interest, statement of teaching philosophy, statement of research interest and plans, and a list of three professional references. Please be prepared to provide the names and email addresses of three references our Human Resources Office can invite to provide confidential, electronic letters of recommendation to support your application. Full review of applications will begin July 2, 2014, but applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Contact Information:

For more information please contact the Search Committee Chair, Dr. Justice Mbizo (jmbizo@uwf.edu), 850-474-2650, or the Program Director, Dr. George Stewart (gstewart@uwf.edu), 850-473-7226.

University of West Florida:

Founded in 1963, the University of West Florida is a vibrant, distinctive institution of higher learning with undergraduate, graduate and targeted research programs. With multiple locations in Northwest Florida, the University serves a student population of more than 12,000.

Pensacola, Florida:

Pensacola is the westernmost city in the Florida Panhandle and the county seat of Escambia County, Florida, United States. As of the 2010 census, the city had a total population of 51,923. The city, known for its beautiful beaches and nicknamed "The City of Five Flags," has been loved by explorers since 1559.

The University of West Florida (UWF) is an Equal Opportunity/Access/Affirmative Action employer. A criminal background check is required for the successful candidate. Pursuant to provisions of the Americans with Disabilities Act, any person requiring special accommodations to apply is requested to advise UWF by contacting the UWF Human Resources Department at 1-850-474-2694 (Voice) or 1-850-857-6114 (TTY).