INVITATIONS & Co

Time to find 'the one'. Well, the other one, that is.

Whether you're planning a rustic wedding, winter wedding or anything in between, your invitations set the tone of your event - from save the date cards to plan table place, guestbook, menus...

Planning your wedding is probably the biggest day you will personally have to organize in your life. So announcing your special day must be chosen with care, it is the very first impression your guests will have about your wedding !

Receiving a perfect invitation will create excitement and anticipation for your guests while at the same time helping them prepare for your event.

It permits also to give all the information needed for the day D: date, time, place, religious ceremony or not, reception or not... You are free to formulate them any other information (the wedding list, a dress code...) if necessary.

We help you decide on the style of your invitations that captures the essence of the wedding you want to have.
