SECOND SUNDAY OF LENT

Thinking Out Loud

As Lent is the time for greater love, come listen to Jesus' thirst... 'Repent and believe' Jesus tells us. What are we to repent? Our indifference, our hardness of heart. What are we to believe? Jesus thirsts even now, in your heart and in the poor – He knows your weakness. He wants only your love, wants only the chance to love you. So suggests Mother Teresa of Calcutta. Mother knows of what she speaks. This Lent, we should pray over her suggestion, see where it leads us, and experience the grace-filled moments that await us.

We are very grateful to the Honorable Philip Murphy, former U.S. Ambassador to the Federal Republic of Germany, for his enthusiastic and insightful talk on the state of the world. The former Ambassador, the first speaker in our Lenten series, gave his perceptive and knowledgeable presentation to a large and listening audience in our school hall immediately after the evening Mass on Ash Wednesday. His comments were challenging and encouraged us to think about the many situations, economic, social, and political, which challenge all of us who want a better world to pass on to the next generation.

Once again, this bulletin is going to press in the morning, with the Most Reverent Yousif Habash, Syriac Bishop assigned presently to St. Joseph Syriac Cathedral, Bayonne, New Jersey, speaking to us on Wednesday evening on the calamities which are taking place in the Middle East. Bishop Yousif is a native of Iraq and knows firsthand of the atrocities committed against Christians in that part of the world.

Now, on to the big screen. A few weeks back, a priest friend and I saw the movie Brooklyn. It is the story of a young girl, Ellis Lacey played by Saoirse Ronan, (don't ask me how to pronounce her first name) who leaves Ireland and comes to Brooklyn to, as they say, "make something of herself." Before long, she meets an Italian plumber, named, "Tony" (what else) and they fall in love. It is a wonderful, simple story, with a few unexpected turns in it. The movie takes place in the 1950's so if you like that era, you will enjoy the movie even more.

There were three aspects of this film worth mentioning. The first is that Brooklyn is proof that as far as films go, there need not be violence, bad language, or a lot of sex to make a movie like this a good one. It kept me interested from the beginning until the end. Second, while this is a boy-meets-girl story, it was romantic, not sappy, and the characters in the film were so much like many of the Irish were known to be as I grew up. Whoever did the casting did a terrific job. Third, the movie accurately portrays the role the parish priest played in the everyday life of ordinary people back in the 1950's and especially in the lives of immigrants. His role was pivotal. So often it was the parish priest who helped make the transition from one country to another the success the newly-arrived hoped it would be. No negative press or innuendo for the clergy in this film. Ms. Ronan is a "looker," a real Irish beauty, and Tony the plumber is played by Emory Cohen whose role is more than convincing.

Coming from the forgotten borough of Staten Island, which survived the Brooklyn invasion right after the Verrazano Bridge was built, there were many Irish-Italian couples who fell in love and together had very happy marriages that produced many beautiful babies.

Walking along the boardwalk of South Beach, one could see children in t-shirts which have, "Half Gaelic half garlic" printed on them, no doubt the children of the Tony and Ellis who once lived in Brooklyn and who had happily found their way to Staten Island.

Monday morning brought with it a bus trip for our Altar Servers and Children's Choir members, as a way of thanking them for their liturgical service to our Church.

Traffic was exceptionally light, both going and coming, as it was President's Day holiday. The day started with a Staten Island Ferry ride from Staten Island to the lowest part of Manhattan. From Battery Park, we moved our way up to Old St. Patrick's Cathedral which is now a Basilica. Monsignor Donald Sakano, the Pastor of this old historically significant parish located on Mott Street of Little Italy fame, gave us a personal tour of the Old St. Patrick's which is in the middle of the renovation of everything one might imagine. It is a gem of a Church already and with the renovation currently underway, it will be the jewel of jewels.

We were late in our arrival, and while Monsignor had a Mass a little after noon, he was as thorough as could be in the presentation of all aspects of the renovation. When the renovation is complete, the adults of our parish would be wise to take advantage of a trip to the Archdiocese of New York's first Cathedral.

Completing the tour of the Old St. Patrick's, our coach brought us up to the newer and also newly-renovated St. Patrick's Cathedral on Fifth Avenue and 50th Street.

Our tour guide, one of the Cathedral's volunteer staff members, was as gracious as could be as she showed us every point of interest which could be shown. From the Holy Doors, to the Lady Chapel, to the crypt in which the Archbishops of New York are laid to rest, it was as thorough a tour as could be imagined.

When I asked if our children could get a better view of the Archbishop's chair, thus designating the Church in which the Cathedral is located as the Cathedral, we were treated to the rarest of rare opportunities to view the throne while in the sanctuary itself. One of our more observant students commented that they were only ten feet away from where our Holy Father presided at Vespers during his recent visit to the Big Apple. It is my sense that this experience will become quite a memory for our young participants and rightly so!

Another wonderful group in our parish, the St.

(Column continues)

James Seniors, is not only alive and thriving but growing in numbers. What is the reason for this success you might ask? The answer is this: a committed moderator, very fine members of its executive committee, the officers are great, and a solid core group of members who are positive in their outlook and pleasant in their disposition. My prediction is that this will become one of the largest and most active groups in the parish in the not too distant future.

So, once again, we have been blessed with a grace-filled and productive week here at St. James. As Lent continues, let's remember Mother Teresa's words and continue to show our love for Jesus by showing our love to others, especially to the poor, and to those most in need of our kindnesses.

Weekend of February 20 / 21, 2016

Time really is flying in the second grade! The students are getting ready for their First Reconciliation in March and their First Communion in May. We are so excited for these opportunities to grow closer to Jesus and to participate more in our Catholic faith. The children learned about the beginning of Lent and Ash Wednesday. Now, we are preparing for Jesus' resurrection at Easter, too!

They are learning how to add double-digit numbers; how to identify theme and plot in a story; how to tell the difference between facts and opinions; all about life cycles of plants and animals, and about important historical figures such as Rosa Parks and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Wow, so much to learn! And we are continuing to practice being "star listeners" so we can all learn and grow to the best of our ability. I am so proud of my students!

Opening Our Hearts & Working Together To Serve Others
- Putting Our Faith In Action -

Opening Our Hearts & Working Together To Serve Others - Putting Our Faith Into Action. Our mission is for all of us to create a stronger bond and strengthen our Parish Family together with our children, as we go out into the community to serve others who are less fortunate than us and need our help.

The Parish Outreach of St. James Church started with the Confirmation families and branched out to our Parishioners along with the Academy of St. Francis with various projects, such as soup kitchen visits, spending time with sick children and the elderly and participating at Special Olympics. We welcome all parishioners & our extended family at the Academy of St. Francis to join us as we put our FAITH IN ACTION. Please keep your eyes open for bulletin inserts listing Parish Outreach Opportunities and join us on our mission in helping those in need in our community. Thank You to all previous donors & participants. God bless.
