

State-by-state Guide for RN License Renewal Requirements 2009

Information in this guide was obtained through each state's Board of Nursing website. Please check each individual site for any changes or updates. Current RN licensure is mandatory for renewal of advanced practice nursing privileges in the majority of states. In many states, RN licensure can be renewed at the same time as advanced practice nursing privileges.

RNs and LPNs must earn 24 contact hours within their two-year licensing period. Nurses licensed by examination on or after October 1, 2002 must complete 4 contact hours of Board-provided continuing education related to Board functions, the Nurse Practice Act, regulations, professional conduct, and accountability. This mandatory class must be completed for the first license renewal for RNs and LPNs licensed by examination.

APNs (CRNP, CNM, CRNA, CNS) are required to have current national certification in the specialty area of practice. The national certifying organization must send official verification of this directly to the Board of Nursing prior to certification expiration date. Allow for approximately two weeks for the Board to provide you with notice for approval of continued Advanced Practice Nursing.

Two of the following must be met every two years:

- 30 hours of approved continuing education
- 30 hours of professional activities
- 320 hours of employment as a RN or LPN

Licensees may qualify for alternative methods of competency through a refresher course, taking the NCLEX, or by progressing towards a degree or certificate by completing two courses.

ANPs renew licensure every two years. A copy of the licensee's national certification in the area of specialty practice is required to accompany the renewal form. Renewal of prescriptive authority includes at least eight contact hours of pharmacology relating to specialty area of practice.

RN and LPN licenses are renewed every two years. Effective July 1, 2008, licensees seeking renewal must attest to having completed the chosen learning activity to meet the continuing competence requirement. RNs and LPNs need to complete a self-assessment of their nursing practice, develop a learning plan, and select an approved learning activity option which must be completed prior to the next renewal date.

This self-assessment must address four nursing practice components:

- 1) Professional responsibility
- 2) Knowledge-based practice
- 3) Legal/ethical practice
- 4) Collaboration

Learning activity options include one of the following:

- National certification or recertification
- 30 contact hours of continuing education
- Completion of a Board-approved refresher course
- Two semester hours of post-license academic nursing education
- 15 contact hours plus completion of a nursing project as principal or coprincipal investigator
- 15 contact hours and authoring or co-authoring a published nursing-related article, book, or book chapter

- 15 contact hours and developing and conducting a nursing education presentation
- 15 contact hours and 640 hours of nursing practice within the previous two years

APRN (NP, CNM, CRNA, CNS) licensure must be renewed annually. 50 contact hours are required for renewal of APRN license each year beginning with the first renewal after approval to practice. NP compliance reviews are conducted randomly to make sure that the NPs are meeting the requirements of the Board rules and regulations during their practice. Current certification or recertification of a national credentialing body must be maintained for APRN license renewal. NPs will be chosen at random for these reviews and given at least 24 hours notice by the Board prior to being visited by a Board member for review.

All nursing licenses are renewed every two years. RN and LPN license renewal requirements include 960 practice hours over the past five years and a mandatory seven contact hours of continuing education on pain management.

APN license renewal requirements include the above RN renewal requirements plus:

- NPs need 100 contact hours every two years. 15 contact hours of the 100 contact hours required must be in pharmacotherapeutic content for APNs with prescriptive authority.
- CNS with prescriptive authority needs 100 contact hours every two years. A 45-hour pharmacology course within the past 2 years is required to renew prescriptive privileges or 400 hours of utilizing prescriptive authority within the past two years.

- CNS without prescriptive authority needs 40 contact hours every two years. At least 50% of the total contact hours required need to be a “structured activity” (a lecture, learning experience, or activity which is accredited and awards a certificate for attendance). Accepted continuing education will be related to the scope of specialty practice of the APN. CPR and ACLS do not meet the requirements for continuing education. Required CE must be related to the specialty focus and given at the target audience level.

CRNA renewal requirements include: 850 practice hours within the past two years; continuing education to meet the requirements of the national certifying body; and a mandatory seven contact hours of continuing education on pain management.

For PN (practical nurse) renewal, there are currently no CE or practice hour requirements.

For RN license renewal, the PA State Board of Nursing has recently added a new requirement for CE; a new mandate of 30 hours of continuing education is required to renew RN licensure beginning October 31, 2010. ACLS, PALS, and ATLS (Advanced Trauma Life Support) may be used towards the 30 hours of CE only once during the two-year renewal period. Additional contact hours do not carry-over to the next renewal period.

At the present time, CRNPs must verify 30 hours of CE during the two-year renewal period. If the CRNP has prescriptive privileges then 16 of the 30 CEs must be in pharmacology.
