ANNUAL REPORT 2007

“The Trust brings service providers in all arenas together to ensure that the needs of all our community’s citizens are being met.”

Lou Moneymaker, CEO
Bosma Enterprises, Indianapolis

“Funding agencies know that the Trust invests its dollars wisely. Having been a Trust recipient, our organization has had doors open when seeking additional funding opportunities.”

Gregg Goodman, executive director
Horses Help, Phoenix

"The Trust money has been the single most transformative thing for our organization...the Trust took a chance on us in the early days when no one else would. We went from serving 1,573 in our first year, to serving over 22,000 a year by the time we finished our fifth year. We went from operating one visitation center using only volunteers to operating three visitation centers and now have three full-time staff members."

10-YEAR OVERVIEW

Fair Market Value of Investments and Awarded Grants

“Our goal as Trustees is to honor Nina’s wishes to provide the greatest support to charities in her hometowns of Indianapolis and Phoenix each year. Therefore, it is the Trust’s policy to distribute in grants, whichever is larger: all of the earnings, including dividends and interest; or the equivalent of 5% of the Trust’s total assets.”

“The Nina Scholars program is a living legacy to Nina who, during her lifetime, brought the dream of a college education to many who needed a hand up. Our Nina Scholars have experienced some of life’s great hardships; however, despite their challenges, they are determined to achieve an education and realize a better life for themselves and a better life for their families.”

TRUSTEES' LETTER

We are pleased to introduce the Nina Mason Pulliam Charitable Trust's 2007 annual report, which also celebrates the Trust's 10th year of grantmaking. As we reflect over the past 10 years, we are convinced that Nina Pulliam would be so pleased with the impact of her Trust and the respect this organization has earned in Indianapolis and Phoenix.

Nina was an exceptional lady who believed that we all have a responsibility to give back to our communities, to assist those who are less fortunate and to provide support for issues that will make our communities a better place for us all to call home. Nina walked what she talked, and she lived what she believed. The Trust's grantee organizations embody Nina's spirit, dedication and values of service.

The recipients of the Trust's grants honor Mrs. Pulliam with their good work every day of the year. We are humbled by their unwavering devotion to their missions and communities. In total, our family of 713 grantee organizations has put to work more than $140 million in Trust grants, equally distributed between Arizona and Indiana. The Nina Scholars are testimony to the power of determination, dedication and the life-altering impact of education. Since the Trust established the Nina

Mason Pulliam Legacy Scholars program in 2001, it has funded 284 scholarships, and 92 men and women have graduated through spring 2008. The realization of a 2- or 4-year college degree creates a $557,000 premium, on average, to each Nina Scholar graduate's career earning potential.

In addition to approving grants, one of the most important duties as Trustees is our fiduciary responsibility for overseeing the Trust's investment portfolio because it is the sole source of grant dollars. In 2007, the Trustees and executive staff engaged in a thorough study of the Trust's investment policy guidelines to increase the likelihood of realizing returns sufficient to preserve the endowment's original value after grantmaking, administrative expenses and inflation over the Trust's remaining 39-year life. We anticipate that the further diversification of the Trust's investments we approved in late 2007 will help us achieve our long-term investment and grantmaking objectives.

As the Trust moves into its next decade, we pledge that it will continue to be a resource that the nonprofit communities in Indianapolis and Phoenix can rely upon to reach farther, serve better and continue to be the energy of Nina Mason Pulliam's legacy.

PROGRAM AREAS

HELPING PEOPLE IN NEED

Basic Needs – The Trust supports organizations and programs that serve those who are without sufficient food, clothing, shelter, medical care and other necessities of life.

Elderly Persons – The Trust supports organizations and programs that assist elderly adults and preserve their mental and physical well-being and independence.

Physically and Developmentally Disabled Adults and Children – The Trust supports organizations and programs that provide services for people with physical and developmental disabilities.

Women, Children, Youth and Families – The Trust supports organizations and programs that improve the well-being of and future opportunities for children, youth and their families. This also includes programs that provide health and educational services.

Organizations requesting funds for summer youth programs in Arizona and Indiana must do so through the Summer Youth Program Fund administered by the Arizona Community Foundation and the Central Indiana Community Foundation, respectively. For additional information, please refer to the Trust's web site at www.ninapulliamtrust.org.

PROTECTING ANIMALS AND NATURE

Animal Welfare – The Trust supports organizations and programs that strengthen community bonds and provide humane services for domestic animals, including shelters and veterinarian and adoption services. It also supports organizations providing rescue, veterinary care and reintroduction of native wildlife.

Botanical Gardens and Zoos – The Trust supports organizations and programs that provide education and recreation opportunities for the community and that protect the diversity of animals and their habitats.

Environment – The Trust supports organizations and programs that provide conservation, protection and restoration of wildlife and its habitats, as well as education and public awareness to promote environmental stewardship.

ENRICHING COMMUNITY LIFE

Arts and Culture – The Trust supports arts and cultural organizations whose programs are primarily for children and adults who also are most likely to be served by the Trust's "Helping People in Need" program area.

Community Building and Civic Revitalization – The Trust supports organizations and programs that assist neighborhoods in decline, as well as those that enhance the quality of life in the Trust's priority communities of Indianapolis and Phoenix.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

This 2007 annual report has a dual purpose — to report on the Trust's past year of grant and financial activities and to reflect upon what its first decade has meant to the community of nonprofits that it serves primarily in the Indianapolis and Phoenix areas.

In 2007, the Trust did not veer from its mission or pattern of past giving. It remained primarily focused on supporting efforts that are helping challenged individuals and families of all ages to realize their potential no matter where they are along the continuum of life. The Trust continues to conduct its work especially through strengthening those nonprofit organizations on the front lines to improve and enrich the human condition.

In response to its nonprofit organization constituency, the Trust continued to consider requests for operating, programmatic and capital needs and committed funds for up to three years. The Trust continued to welcome requests from new or fledgling organizations, as well as support those that have been at work for many years in our communities. Many younger organizations among the Trust's family of 713 grantees have developed into full-blown thriving agencies with diversified financial support and demonstrated impact.

As you read this report, the 42 new students who comprise the Trust's eighth cohort of Nina Scholars are beginning their studies at one of the four participating college campuses in Indianapolis and Phoenix. Beyond the full scholarships and other financial supports, the counseling, tutoring and mentoring available to them through their four or six years of eligibility make their probability of graduating significantly higher than members of the full student bodies on these campuses. Looking to the future, the Trust intends to use the findings of the six-year formal evaluation of the Nina Scholars program to make decisions about further investments to help students from less privileged and more challenged backgrounds persist in college and succeed in life.

Since 2001, the Trust has been expanding its support of organizations dedicated to protecting animals and nature. This has included organizations working to save the environment through land preservation, participating in the public dialogue with the federal government about how best to care for public natural resources and broadening the public's (and especially youth's) appreciation for and interaction with the glorious gifts of nature. Confronting the impact of global warming and climate change is a growing area of interest.

Price, director of grants administration and secretary to board of Trustees; Michael R. Twyman, Ph.D., director of grants programs, Indiana; Robert L. Lowry, chief financial and operating officer.

The Trust chose the theme of Building a Legacy of Community Grantmaking since 1998 to represent its first decade and invited several grantees of various sizes, longevity and areas of focus to tell their stories of the impact the Trust's support has meant. We hope that at the completion of reading and viewing the following pages, you will conclude that this theme appropriately reflects the Trust's tangible and intangible impact over the past 10 years.

In closing, the Trustees and staff join me in acknowledging and thanking those committed and visionary professional and voluntary leaders who are working tirelessly to address our communities' growing needs, especially in these times of economic stress.

"The Trust's support allowed us to pursue valuable relationships with agency staff, other conservation organizations, the local press and an interested public."

“The majority of Scholars who are from foster care speak to how different everything would be ‘if they only had a family.’ It is a significant triumph that, although the program’s main objective is earning a college degree, many have discovered a new meaning of family...genuine concern, affection and care of the Nina Scholars.”

Scholar quote from Multiprogram Longitudinal Evaluation of Nina Mason Pulliam Legacy Scholars Program

In early 2007, the Trust announced that it was extending its commitment through 2010 for a total 10-year grant commitment of approximately $14 million to fund 410 scholarships. As of 2007, the Nina Scholars program represented approximately 10 percent of the Trust's annual grants expenditures.

In 2007, in recognition of the Nina Scholars program, the Trust received the Council for Resource Development Benefactor Award that acknowledges outstanding contributions to community colleges.

Our Featured 2008 Graduates

The following Nina Scholars are representative of the 92 graduates thus far. In addition to improving their lives and the lives of their families, many Scholar graduates are pursuing careers in social service and have an ongoing commitment to community volunteerism.

Jessica Steckler, cohort 4, graduated with an associate degree in business administration. She hopes to pursue a career in hospital business administration. (page 6)

Aurelia Bradley, cohort 4, graduated with a Bachelor of Interdisciplinary Studies degree. She served as the Nina Scholar Representative for the 2007-2008 academic year. (page 7)

Ronna Caldwell, cohort 2, graduated with a 4.1 GPA and a bachelor's degree in social work. The Arizona Republic featured Ronna's story and the College of Public Programs' convocation ceremony highlighted her experience as a Nina Scholar. She begins the Advanced Standing Master of Social Work (MSW) program at ASU in the summer 2008. (pages 7 and 8)

Mary Manning, cohort 4, graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree in Political Science. She was featured in a five-page article in Arizona State University newspaper publication "The State Press Magazine." She plans to continue on to graduate school. (page 7)

D'Metra Macedon, cohort 4, graduated with a Bachelor of Interdisciplinary Studies degree. She was able to secure a competitive paid internship that she will begin in the summer. D'Metra is a competitive track and field athlete and plans to continue on to graduate school. (page 7)

Tanya Love, cohort 6, graduated with an Associate of Science in Criminal Justice and will be pursuing a bachelor's degree this fall at IUPUI. She hopes to continue on to law school. (page 8)

Shawnieka White, cohort 5, graduated with an Associate of Science degree in Human Services. She is a member of Black Students United, the founder and president of Phenomenal Woman, and a former officer of the Student Government Association. Shawnieka plans to pursue a degree in social work at IUPUI this fall. (page 8)

Rosie Hernandez, cohort 6, graduated with an Associate of Science degree in Early Childhood Education. She is a member of the board of directors for Interfaith Hospitality Network, an emergency homeless shelter for families; a member of the Phi Theta Kappa honor society and also participated in the TRiO program. Rosie plans to pursue a degree in elementary education at IUPUI this fall. (pages 8 and 9)

Sycamore Land Trust (SLT) works to preserve southern Indiana's disappearing landscape. SLT conserves land to provide habitat for wildlife, protect scenic beauty and provide places for outdoor enjoyment and education. Working together with private landowners to protect their land and family heritage, SLT helps maintain the unique character of southern Indiana.

Pictured Right

The Grand Canyon Wildlands Council creates and applies a dynamic conservation area network to ensure the existence, health and sustainability of all native species and natural ecosystems in the Grand Canyon ecoregion. The organization combines effective and efficient conduct and assessment of scientific research and communicates creative, science-based solutions to land stewards, public citizens and other conservation groups in a spirit of good will.

“Sycamore Land Trust has become one of the fastest growing conservation groups in the Midwest. The Pulliam Trust has helped make all of this possible. SLT has conserved 5,200 acres in 10 counties and helped plant 54,700 trees since 1997.”

Christian Freitag, executive director
Sycamore Land Trust, Inc., Bloomington

“Perhaps the most transformative benefit derived from the Trust’s support is the substantial growth of our active volunteer program, engaging over 600 participants in over 30 projects.”

Kelly Burke, executive director
Grand Canyon Wildlands Council, Flagstaff

“The Trust’s support came at a critical time in the National Forest Planning Process. We’re helping set policy for millions of acres of lands over the next two decades.”

Matt Skroch, executive director
Sky Island Alliance, Tucson

Pictured Left

Sky Island Alliance is dedicated to the protection and restoration of the rich natural heritage of native species and habitats in the Sky Island region of the southwestern United States and northwestern Mexico. The organization brings together volunteers, scientists, land owners, public officials and government agencies to establish protected areas, restore healthy landscapes and promote public appreciation of the region’s unique biological diversity.

Improving Kids' Environment (IKE) is dedicated to reducing environmental threats to children's health. IKE will help children reach their full potential by working with citizens, nonprofit organizations, governments, businesses and others to identify environmental threats to children's health; ensure that parents and other guardians have access to information about these threats and how to prevent them; support organizations that remove, reduce and communicate these threats; and promote practical means to remove or reduce environmental threats to children's health.

“The Trust’s 2005 grant was critical to IKE’s survival after the founder’s departure. Without it, it is likely that the board of directors would not have been able to find a new executive director, as there were no other significant sources of support available at that time.”

Janet McCabe, executive director
Improving Kids' Environment, Indianapolis

“The Trust’s grants have transformed Central Indiana Land Trust from an all-volunteer organization to a professionally-staffed land trust. This has enabled CILTI to effectively protect and preserve natural areas for the residents of Central Indiana, as well as educate the community about the importance of conservation.”

Heather Bacher, executive director
Central Indiana Land Trust, Inc., Indianapolis

Pictured Left

Hiring professional staff has enabled the Central Indiana Land Trust (CILTI) to more effectively implement its mission of preserving natural areas. Two of the nation’s 100 fastest growing counties are in CILTI’s 11-county service area. Hamilton is the 30th fastest growing county with 37.3% population growth and Hendricks ranks 75th with 26% growth. Additionally, Boone, Hancock and Johnson counties have all seen double-digit increases in growth percentages. As economic growth burgeons in these counties, critical natural areas are being lost.

“Big Walnut Nature Preserve serves as an anchor for our work and enables us to demonstrate to nearby landowners that our work is compatible with their pursuit of a livelihood through farming.”

Mary McConnell, state director
The Nature Conservancy, Inc., Indiana Chapter

Pictured Right

Indiana has lost 99.9% of its prairies, 85% of its wetlands and 80% of its forests with the remaining natural areas changing at alarming rates. The Nature Conservancy of Indiana is committed to protecting these remaining habitats before it is too late.

The Indiana Partnership for Young Writers is a nonprofit organization dedicated to cultivating the skills and identities of students as writers in kindergarten through eighth grade. The program supports teachers in establishing Writing Workshops in their classrooms by offering a comprehensive program of Workshops, Institutes and in-classroom sessions that deepen teachers' understandings of the qualities of good writing. The Partnership believes that how writing is taught does indeed make a difference and that Writing Workshops foster an environment where students write for real purposes in ways that count in the "real" world.

"A three-year grant from the Trust is providing crucial capacity building support to our program department, which is striving to reach its goal to double the number of children we are serving from 6,000 a year to 12,000 a year by 2012."

Independent Accountants' Report

Trustees
Nina Mason Pulliam Charitable Trust
Indianapolis, Indiana

We have audited the accompanying statements of financial position of Nina Mason Pulliam Charitable Trust (Trust) as of December 31, 2007 and 2006, and the related statements of activities and cash flows for the years then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Trust's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Nina Mason Pulliam Charitable Trust as of December 31, 2007 and 2006, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the years then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

December 31, 2007 and 2006

NOTE 1: ORGANIZATION

The Nina Mason Pulliam Charitable Trust (Trust) is a continuing trust established under the provisions of Article 5 of the Nina Mason Pulliam Revocable Trust Agreement. The term of the Trust shall be for 50 years after the date of death of Nina Mason Pulliam, which was March 26, 1997. During the Trust's term, the Trustees are directed to distribute annually the higher of all of the Trust's net income or the distributable amount necessary to comply with federal tax laws from the Trust property to qualified organizations. Upon the expiration of the Trust term, the principal and remaining income shall be distributed to qualified organizations.

The Trust seeks to help people in need, especially women, children and families; to protect animals and nature; and to enrich community life through grantmaking in the metropolitan areas of Indianapolis, Indiana, and Phoenix, Arizona. In 2001 the Trust implemented the Nina Mason Pulliam Legacy Scholars program, which seeks individuals 25 years and older who have dependents and share the goal of acquiring a college degree to enhance future opportunities for their families. Others assisted through this program include financially independent young adults seeking to enter college for the first time who have grown up in the child welfare system and college-age youth and adults with physical disabilities.

NOTE 2: SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The Trust maintains its records on the accrual basis of accounting. The more significant accounting policies used by the Trust are as follows:

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues, expenses and other changes in net assets during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents consist of bank deposits in federally insured accounts and money market funds. At December 31, 2007, the Trust's cash accounts exceeded federally insured limits by approximately $2,120,500. For purposes of the statements of cash flows, the Trust considers highly liquid investments with an original maturity of three months or less when purchased to be cash equivalents.

Investments

Investments in marketable equity and fixed income securities with readily determinable market values are recorded at their publicly quoted market prices. The market values for alternative investments and hedge funds represent the Trust's pro-rata interest in the net assets of each investment and are based on financial information determined and reported by investment managers or on the basis of other information evaluated periodically by management. Alternative investments and hedge funds are not publicly traded on national security market exchanges, are generally illiquid and may be valued differently than if readily available markets existed for such investments. Because of the inherent uncertainties of valuation of alternative investments and hedge funds, the reported values of such investments may differ significantly from realizable values.

Investment income consists of the Trust's distributive share of any interest, dividends, and realized and unrealized gains and losses generated from the Trust's investments. Gains and losses attributable to the Trust's investments are realized and reported upon sale or disposition of the investment. Unrealized gains and losses are included in the change in net assets in the statements of activities.

Securities Lending

The Trust has entered into a securities lending agreement and guaranty with the Bank of New York. Cash, U. S. Government securities, and/or letters of credit can collateralize loaned securities. Collateral required is equal to 102 percent of the current market value of the loaned securities. Income earned from the secured lending transactions is recorded as investment income. The Trust continues to carry the loaned securities as its assets. As of December 31, 2007, the total amount of securities subject to this program was $19,578,311.

Federal Excise Tax

The Trust is a tax-exempt organization under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code (Code) and a private foundation under Section 509 of the Code. As a result, the Trust has not provided for state or federal income taxes. The Trust is subject to a federal excise tax of 1 percent or 2 percent on net investment income, as defined by the Code, and has recorded excise tax liabilities in the financial statements. Deferred federal excise taxes (benefits) result from the tax effects associated with unrealized appreciation (depreciation) on the Trust's investments.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

December 31, 2007 and 2006

Equipment and Leasehold Improvements

The Trust carries equipment, leasehold improvements and automobiles at cost. Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method based upon the estimated useful lives that range from three to 10 years.

Net Asset Classification

All net assets of the Trust are unrestricted and may be used at the discretion of the Trustees to support the Trust's purposes and operations.

NOTE 3: FEDERAL EXCISE TAXES

The Trust used a 2 percent Federal excise tax rate for the current and deferred tax provisions for the years ended December 31, 2007 and 2006. The Federal excise tax expense components are as follows:

	2007	2006
Current expense	$ 1,082,456	$ 517,369
Deferred expense	(469,317)	396,159
Federal excise tax expense	$ 613,139	$ 913,528

NOTE 4: INVESTMENTS

As of December 31, 2007 and 2006, the investments of the Trust included:

	2007		2006

NOTE 5: DERIVATIVE FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

The Trust employs a wide range of investment managers to manage its portfolio. The Trust requires these managers to follow its investment policy with regards to investment risk and yield. In connection with manager contracts, the Trust can invest in U. S. Treasury futures contracts, fixed income options, swaps and money market futures primarily to enhance the overall yield of investments and to place its investment portfolio at a certain position on the yield curve. Credit loss exposure exists in the event of nonperformance by the other parties, principally large brokerage firms, to such instruments.

The following net realized gains and losses relating to the Trust's derivative instruments have been included in the statements of activities for the years ended December 31.

	2007	2006
U.S. Treasury and agency futures	$ (679,592)	$ 101,839
Fixed income options	31,810	(6,910)

Interest rate swaps and other	5,672	2,351
	$ 830,602	$ (70,871)

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

December 31, 2007 and 2006

NOTE 6: OPERATING LEASES

The Trust has entered into noncancelable 10-year office space leases in Indianapolis, Indiana, and Phoenix, Arizona. Both leases include provisions for inflationary rent increases and require the Trust to pay for its share of building operating costs above the base year amount. The Trust has the option to extend each lease for an additional five years beyond the expiration of the initial term. Rent expense for space in Indianapolis and Phoenix totaled $344,974 and $332,684 for the years ended December 31, 2007 and 2006, respectively.

Future minimum rents to be paid under these leases, excluding future escalation for rents, realizable taxes and building operating expenses, are:

2008	$ 328,269
2009	168,197
2010	170,416
2011	571
Total	$ 667,453

NOTE 7: EMPLOYEE BENEFIT PLANS

The Trust maintains a wage deferral plan qualified under Section 401(k) of the Internal Revenue Code that covers all participating employees. The Trust makes 7 percent contributions to each employee's 401(k) plan account based upon that employee's wages and provides matching funds on a dollar-for-dollar basis up to the first 4 percent of an employee's discretionary contribution. Total Trust contributions to the plan were $167,387 in 2007 and $163,454 in 2006.

In 2004, the Trust adopted a key employee wage deferral plan under Section 457(b) of the Internal Revenue Code. The Trust contributes to the plan based on the employee's position and a percentage of salary. Total Trust contributions to the plan were $30,510 in 2007 and $29,402 in 2006.

NOTE 8: PROGRAM EXPENSES

NINA MASON PULLIAM (1906 - 1997)

Was a journalist, a business leader, a humanitarian and a lover of all creatures.

Nina Mason Pulliam was born in 1906 in rural Martinsville, Indiana, one of seven children. As a high school sophomore, she received her first compensation for a literary essay. She went on to study journalism at Franklin College in Franklin, Indiana, and later attended Indiana University and the University of New Mexico. After college, she took a full-time job at Farm Life, a national magazine published in Spencer, Indiana. When the magazine folded during the Depression, she went to work in Lebanon, Indiana, for an ambitious newspaper publisher named Eugene C. Pulliam. They were married in 1941.

During their marriage, the Pulliams traveled abroad extensively as a husband and wife writing team. They were among the first Americans to visit and write about post-World War II conditions in Europe. Over 11 years, Nina Pulliam was published in newspapers throughout North America, and her articles were compiled into seven books.

Nina Pulliam was the founding secretary-treasurer and a director of Central Newspapers, Inc. (CNI), which Mr. Pulliam had established in 1934. Upon his death in 1975, she served as president of CNI until 1979 and was publisher of The Arizona Republic and The Phoenix Gazette until 1978. Gannett Newspapers, Inc. purchased CNI in 2000.

She was the first woman admitted to Sigma Delta Chi, now the Society of Professional Journalists. Mrs. Pulliam also loved flying and was the first woman to earn a private pilot's license in Indiana. She was known for her lifelong love of animals and for her nature conservancy efforts.

Nina Pulliam was a compassionate business and civic leader, devoting many hours to civic, charitable and community work. During her career, she shared her financial success and business leadership skills with many charities in Indianapolis and Phoenix.

“Mrs. Pulliam is truly a real person and a palpable presence within their program. Scholars refer to their cohort friends as ‘the other Ninas’ and make statements such as, ‘I am so grateful for Nina.’ More than an abstract benefactress, for many Scholars, they identify with Nina Pulliam and are encouraged by her legacy that exemplifies accomplishments in the face of adversity.”

GRANT APPLICATION INFORMATION

MISSION

The Nina Mason Pulliam Charitable Trust seeks to help people in need, especially women, children and families; to protect animals and nature; and to enrich community life in the metropolitan areas of Indianapolis and Phoenix.

GEOGRAPHIC PRIORITIES

The Trust accepts proposals only from charitable organizations located in and serving the metropolitan areas of Indianapolis and Phoenix, with the exception of environmental requests. The Trust will consider environmental proposals from charitable organizations throughout Arizona and Indiana for projects with statewide impact.

WHAT THE TRUST WILL AND WILL NOT CONSIDER FUNDING

The Trust makes grants only to tax-exempt organizations whose purposes are described in Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code that are either public charities described in Sections 509(a) or private operating foundations described in Section 4942(j)(3).

The Trust will not consider grants for international activities, academic research, sectarian purposes, programs that promote religious doctrine or political campaigns. Also, the Trust does not make grants to individuals.

The Trust will not accept unsolicited proposals from colleges and universities for operating or capital requests. (The latter includes endowments for professorial chairs, faculty training and research, scholarships, and building campaigns.) However, the Trust will continue to accept proposals through its regular grant cycles for support of projects that link higher education institutions to their communities. From time to time, the Trust may consider circulating requests for proposals on a case-by-case basis.

The Trust will consider emergency funding requests submitted only according to its regular grantmaking schedule.

SCHEDULE OF FUNDING

Requests for funding may be submitted at any time throughout the year; however, proposal review and funding decisions occur three times per year.

SCOPE OF FUNDING

Generally, the Nina Mason Pulliam Charitable Trust prefers to disburse funds as a one-year grant but not for a period longer than three years. Requests for funding are limited to one request per organization per calendar year. This includes the Summer Youth Program Fund. For these purposes, an “organization” generally refers to that entity to which the IRS has issued a Section 501(c)(3) determination letter. If an organization received a previous grant, a final evaluation report must be submitted and reviewed by Trust staff prior to requesting another grant. For more detailed information and examples, please refer to the Question and Answer section posted on our web site at www.ninapulliamtrust.org.

TYPE OF SUPPORT

The Trust awards grants for program projects and capital needs. The latter includes equipment and/or buildings, and to a limited extent, endowments. The Trust also will consider grants for overall operating support to stabilize management and finances of organizations that have been in existence for three years or less or for established organizations that can document major changes in income generation that threaten their future existence. Organizations within the first three years of operation are required to contact the Trust office to speak with a grants programs staff person prior to submitting a preliminary proposal.

“I think the Trust has a special reputation among Phoenix foundations. To be able to say we have received a Pulliam Trust grant is, in a sense, a badge of honor.”

"The Trust's grants to our organization have been both transformative and critical...without the support of the Trust and its faith in our ability to achieve our mission, we could never have achieved what we have."

To recognize its first decade of grantmaking, the Trust has produced note cards featuring selections from Mrs. Pulliam's favorite writings. Mrs. Pulliam loved the written word and recipients of her personal notes treasured them. Please enjoy using these cards to share your thoughts with friends, colleagues, and family members.
