

Supplemental Contracts

Supplemental contracts are given to individuals to fulfill assigned responsibilities beyond what is covered under a standard contract. Generally these contracts are based on extra/co-curricular assignments, extended days, after school grant programs, or department heads.

Extra/Co-Curricular Contracts

These contracts are issued in compliance with two documents: 1) Federal law and rules (Title IX) governing equality in extra/co-curricular offerings in a school setting, and 2) the negotiated agreement between the Blackfoot School District and the Blackfoot Education Association. Title IX requires that equal offerings be given to all students in relation to extra/co-curricular activities; "No person in the United States shall, on the basis of sex, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance." This mandates that all extra/co-curricular stipends, paid by the district, must be equal in availability and potential regardless of the activity and the student population it involves. The negotiated agreement lists the extra/co-curricular positions the district has agreed to fund. The agreement also indicates the expected compensation for each position.

Extended Day Contracts

Occasionally, individuals are assigned job responsibilities that require them to work beyond the contract days covered by the standard contract. Generally, extended day contracts are given to counselors, career and technical teachers (CTE, formerly PTE), instructional coaches, special education consulting teacher, and summer school responsibilities. In each case, the individual with an extended day contract is required to work beyond the days covered in the standard contract. The career and technical extended day contracts are funded through state career and technical monies received in each program. These contracts are reviewed and approved by the state career and technical education department.

After School Grant Contracts

The Blackfoot School District is extremely fortunate to have four 21st Century after school program grants. Each contract issued for our 21st Century after school programs is funded by the grant monies we receive for each program. The contracts issued are reviewed and approved by the 21st Century state coordinator.

Department Head Contracts

At the secondary level, individuals are selected to work as department heads. In essence, these individuals are considered teacher leaders and mentors for their respective departments. Extra assignments and responsibilities are given to department heads to improve school effectiveness, instructional alignment, and instructional practice. Department head contracts are funded with monies the district receives from the state teacher leadership premiums and are a part of our state and board approved plan to distribute those premiums.
