

How To Bet On Virtual Football League

Betting on virtual football league is the same as betting on normal football matches. The only difference is that the matches in virtual football league are not played by real human beings. They are computer generated.

To get started, click on VFLeague when you get to nairabet.com

It will take you to a page that looks like this.

The screenshot displays the virtual football league betting interface. At the top, it shows 'Season 3781 - Matchday 11'. The main area is divided into several sections:

How Does It Work

Virtual football league is made up of 16 teams. That means each team will play 30 matches a season. Each match lasts for 3 minutes. That means a whole season will last for just about 2 hours.

Assuming the league starts now and week one is being played. All the teams will be playing at the same time. That means within 3 minutes, week one is over. Immediately, week 2 starts and so on.

Please note that everyone, everywhere in the world will be watching the same matches and be using the same results so even if your Internet breaks, it does not matter. The table reflects the same results for everyone.

Infact, as you are watching a game, you can decide to switch to another game to watch. Just click on any of the games listed.

How To Place Bets

You can place bets on the matches that are yet to be played. What I mean is if the games being played live are match day 11 games, you can begin to place bets on matches to be played in week 12 and more.

In the image above, the game involving VfL Stockholm is being shown on the screen. This allows you to place future bets involving VfL Stockholm. In the image, VfL Stockholm's next game is against VfL London and there are already bets for it.

You already know what the bet types like first half results, Over/Under are so I won't discuss that here. All I'll say is you can place them as you like.

Once you click on your selections, they will be added to your bet slip and you can place your bets. You can accumulate as you wish.

Switching to HD

If you have a fast Internet connection, you can get better picture quality by switching to High Definition.

All you have to do is click on HD at the bottom right hand side of the screen.

Thanks for your time. I'm sure you are going to have an exciting time playing the Virtual Football League.
