Attachment B – Program Description

Project Description

I. Objective:

The objective of this program is to provide funding for a new faculty member (starting Spring 2016) at the Assistant Professor level within the Department of Engineering Science and Materials at the University of Puerto Rico, Mayaguez Campus (UPRM). This funding will allow the new faculty member to increase her teaching/research productivity by joining and help develop an independent research program in the area of structural engineering for nuclear facilities at the Department of Engineering Science and Materials. The research funding proposed within this grant application will provide the new faculty member: summer salary support, one graduate student, travel for conferences and training, and funds for research equipment and supplies.

II. Impact:

This funding and with the support given to the 2014 NRC awardees, Dr. Luis Montejo and Dr. Aidcer Vidot, at the Department of Engineering Science and Materials at UPRM will directly influence the abilities of these faculty members to develop successful careers in the area of structural engineering for nuclear facilities and on engineering education. Furthermore, this grant will also have a direct impact on our undergraduate and graduate student body by providing them with enriched and "hands on" experiences.

III. Justification:

The probability of occurrence of severe loads (e.g. wind, earthquake, blast) continuously poses a threat to our infrastructure systems. Nuclear power plants (NPP), as Category I structures, are designed to resist and withstand these external threats. Therefore, analytical and experimental research projects have emerged and are needed to examine the effects of these severe loads on our NPP.

The first stage of "The University of Puerto Rico at Mayaguez Faculty Development Program in Structural Engineering for Nuclear Facilities" support given to Dr. Luis Montejo and Dr. Aidcer Vidot has being focused on the acquisition of high-end computer workstations and licenses for a finite element software package (ABAQUS). The main objective of this investment is to obtain the ability to conduct robust simulations for the analytical research part of the program.

Experimental research is a viable alternate mean to the analytical modeling in particular as these can only be validated via experimental input. The addition of the new faculty member will complement the program in Structural Engineering for Nuclear Facilities with expertise in experimental research in the areas of seismic and structural engineering. Therefore, establishing a strong program in Structural Engineering for Nuclear Facilities at the Department of Engineering Sciences and Materials at UPRM.

IV. Background:

The University of Puerto Rico, Mayagüez (UPRM) is a coeducational, bilingual, and nonsectarian school. It holds memberships in the Middle States Commission on Higher Education and the Association of Hispanic American Universities. The UPRM is also a member of the Oak Ridge Associated Universities (ORAU) which is a private, non-profit consortium of 65 colleges and universities that acts as management and operating contractor for the US Department of Energy (DOE) (<http://cid.uprm.edu/>). Furthermore, it is accredited by professional entities including the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology (ABET). The most recent institutional statistics illustrate a university that gathers over 972 professors and researchers (from which 405 are women) and approximately 12,130 students, most of which are Hispanic US citizens. In 2013, the UPRM College of Engineering had the largest Hispanic undergraduate enrollment in the US with women enrollment ranking higher than in the US with about 28% of the students being female compared to the average of 19.1% in the Nation. The UPRM has been expanding its capacity to offer doctoral degrees in Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) to underrepresented groups. Currently, there are five STEM PhD Programs (Chemical Engineering, Civil Engineering, Applied Chemistry, Computer and Information Science and Engineering, and Marine Sciences) and four additional STEM PhD Programs are under various stages of development (Electrical Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Biomedical Engineering, Materials Science and Engineering). Thus, it is clear that the UPRM has the potential of becoming the leading producer of bilingual Hispanic STEM PhD professionals in the Nation.

V. Current activities and progress:

The 2014 NRC Faculty Development Program awardees, Dr. Luis Montejo and Dr. Aidcer Vidot, at the Department of Engineering Science and Materials at UPRM were promoted to Associate Professor under the course of the Faculty Development Program.

Dr. Luis Montejo's research area is in evaluation of seismic site response procedures and soil structure interaction of soil embedded structures. The 2014 NRC Faculty Development Grant at UPRM was also responsible for supporting the research program of a Dr. Aidcer Vidot which is related to advance simulation of structural components and rational seismic design procedures.

The next step is the addition of a new faculty member in the area of experimental methods for seismic and structural engineering. The NRC program will support this effort through funding for the new faculty member and also through the acquisition of research equipment to enable the addition of experimental research to the Structural Engineering for Nuclear Facilities program at the Department of Engineering Sciences and Materials at UPRM.

VI. Faculty Development Program:

The proposed faculty development program will provide research funding for the new faculty member. The solicited NRC funds and the institutional matched funds will be used for the following purposes:

- Provide the new faculty with the time required to develop a strong and sustainable research program:
 - NRC funds will be used for one summer month of salary support for the first year and two summer months of salary for the last two years: Ensuring two months of summer salary will provide the supported faculty with the time to advance on her research and produce publications and new research proposals.

- Institutional matched funds will be used to provide 3 credits (25%) release each semester for three years: this will allow the new faculty member to continue her research during the academic semesters and develop new educational material.
- Support for a graduate student working under the direct advice of the new faculty to assist her in the development of her research and academic initiatives:
 - NRC funds will be used to support one graduate student for three years.
- Acquisition of research equipment and supplies: NRC funds will be used to acquire:
 - A two channel control system with Quasi-static Hybrid Simulation Capabilities. This system can be used to conduct hybrid simulation for different types of setups and configurations testing the most critical elements or subassemblages of the prototype studied. The test system will include one actuator, controller, software, hydraulic manifold unit, hydraulic hoses, training and services.
 - Additional high-end computer workstation for simulation purposes and additional tokens/seat for ABAQUS finite element software package.
 - Funds would also be used for construction of reduced scale (1:2) prototypes for validation and calibration purposes of the numerical models.
- Travel for conferences, training and interaction with collaborating institutions:
 - Part of the requested NRC funds will be used to cover travel expenses to professional conferences/meetings as well as for training offered by leading experts.

A letter of commitment will be provided by the PI, who is also the Chair of the Department of Engineering Science and Materials, certifying the matching funds for the new faculty. Notice also that all funds from this award will be made available to the new faculty and no administrative or clerical salary costs are included in the direct charges.

VII. New Faculty selection process:

The selection process of the Department of Engineering Science and Materials at the University of Puerto Rico at Mayaguez (UPRM) is aligned with the current mission of the department which is to attract and retain highly-qualified individuals encompassing a range of interdisciplinary areas including hazard mitigation of our infrastructure for extreme events (wind, earthquake and man-made). As a result of the inherent interdisciplinary backgrounds, the department faculty members have been instrumental in developing cross-cutting research collaborations with other science and engineering departments. The new faculty proposed to be supported through this faculty development plan is Dr. Maria D. Cortes-Delgado which expertise in nonlinear modeling, structural dynamics and experimental methods in earthquake and structural engineering meets the criteria for the department's mission. Furthermore, the new faculty will complement the research efforts of the 2014 NRC awardees as well as other faculty members.

VIII. Quality of the faculty to be supported:

For this proposal, the faculty development plan is intended to support one assistant professor who has great potential in her research and teaching initiatives. A brief summary of her background and early accomplishment is presented next.

Dr. Maria D. Cortes-Delgado holds BS and MS degrees in Civil Engineering from University of Puerto Rico at Mayagüez (UPRM) and a PhD (2014) in Civil-Structural Engineering from the State University of New York (SUNY) at Buffalo. She has been involved in experimental testing projects using hybrid simulation to evaluate structural collapse and simulate complex structural systems on the research project "Hybrid Simulation with Distributed Substructures Including Overlapping Domains" under the guidance of Dr. Gilberto Mosqueda and with international collaborators in China (Dr. Wang Tao) and Japan (Dr. Nakashima). She developed the UPRM Earthquake Simulator Facility located at the Civil and Environmental Engineering Department to investigate the behavior of small-scaled model structures under dynamic loading. Dr. Cortes-Delgado was awarded the Schomburg Fellowship for four years, and the NSF Graduate Research Diversity Supplement while pursuing her doctorate. The Schomburg Fellowship is offered by New York State for students with outstanding academic credentials and who are also historically underrepresented students in graduate programs across the university. In collaboration with the UB-NEES site, Dr. Cortes-Delgado led in the development and application of a novel Education module geared towards high-school students that demonstrated the effects of seismic activity (a simulated earthquake) on subscale 3-story structures with and without damping. This new EOT module was judged as a best practice across the entire U.S. NEES consortium of universities by the National Science Foundation's CMMI Director of NEES. Dr. Cortes-Delgado current research focuses on the development of better experimental methods, models for blast simulation and progressive collapse of structures.

IX. Management structure:

The Department Head (Dr. Ramirez-Vick, who is also the PI in this proposal) will be responsible for the overall management of the faculty development plan. The Head will work closely with the supported new faculty and the structural group coordinator to ensure that the objectives of the faculty development plan are successfully accomplished. The semi-annual and final performance reports will be prepared by the PI in cooperation with new faculty and will detail, in addition to the NRC required performance metrics, all the progress and challenges encountered during the reporting period. The financial reports will be prepared within the Research and Development Center which is the research support organization at UPRM.

X. Evaluation Plan:

The success in developing the new faculty member is based primarily on providing her the right tools so that she can succeed in meeting the requirements for advancement to tenure. The faculty member should demonstrate her capabilities in teaching, research and service to the discipline. All of these aspects will be evaluated through the already effectively implemented faculty annual review. Therefore, the feasibility and completeness of the evaluation plan to measure the effectiveness of the faculty development program is warranted.

The annual review is comprised of a faculty self-evaluation, students' evaluation and an evaluation performed by the personnel committee at the department. Main evaluation criteria are presented next.

Research: Includes the number and quality of peer-reviewed journal publications, conference articles and technical presentations. It also includes, the number of externally funded research projects, number of graduate and undergraduate students supported, and collaborations with other institutions, national laboratories and private industry.

Teaching: Includes peer faculty and students perceptions on the implementation of effective teaching strategies, quality of course materials and development of new and relevant curricula.

Service and professional development: Includes service to the University (e.g. participation on committees), the profession (e.g. participation on national technical/professional committees, journal articles or national agencies proposals review) and the community (e.g. outreach activities to underserved schools).

XI. Sustainability and institutional support:

The proposed faculty development program is intended as an integrated element of a strategic plan at UPRM. This strategic plan, as stated in the 2014 NRC faculty development proposal, includes the following steps and programs towards that goal:

- Certificate Program in Nuclear Engineering: consists of a set of six courses in different aspects relevant to nuclear engineering and the creation of this program was sponsored in part by a NRC curriculum development grant.
- Faculty Development Plan: the University was awarded two faculty development plan one at the Department of Mechanical Engineering (2010) and more recently at the Department of Engineering Science and Materials (2014).
- Fellowship Grant: the University was awarded this grant to start the UPRM Fellowship Program in Nuclear Structural Engineering (2012). In the fellowship program (from which Dr. Montejo and Dr. Vidot are PIs), six outstanding graduate students were recruited to pursue MS and PhD degrees, three of the fellows have already finished his MS program and are expected to start working at the nuclear industry (NRC and Bechtel).

It is seen that successful implementation of the past and present faculty development programs perfectly complement current educational efforts in nuclear engineering education and research at UPRM. Therefore, the University strongly supports this initiative and will provide the supported faculty with the equivalent to 22% of release time.

Attachment C – Standard Terms and Conditions

Certifications and Representations: These terms incorporate the certifications and representations required by statute, executive order, or regulation that were submitted with the SF424B application through GRANTS.GOV.

I. Mandatory General Requirements

The order of these requirements does not make one requirement more important than any other requirement.

1. Applicability of 2 CFR 200 All provisions of 2 CFR Part 200 and all Standard Provisions attached to this grant/cooperative agreement are applicable to the Recipient and to sub-recipients which meet the definition of "Recipient" in 2 Part §200.86, unless a section specifically excludes a sub-recipient from coverage. The Recipient and any sub-recipients must, in addition to the assurances made as part of the application, comply and require each of its sub-awardees employed in the completion of the project to comply with Subpart D of 2 CFR 200 and include this term in lower-tier (sub-award) covered transactions.

These issues include, but are not limited to, source evaluation, protests, disputes, and claims. These standards do not relieve the non-Federal entity of any financial or fiduciary responsibilities or obligations arising under its grant, including sub-contracts and sub-awards, or any other contractual or financial obligation. The Federal awarding agency will not substitute its judgment for that of the non-Federal entity unless the matter is primarily a Federal concern. Violations of law will be referred to the local, State, or Federal authority having proper jurisdiction. See 2 CFR § 200.318(k), General Procurement Standards.

Subawards

Modifications/Prior Approval

NRC's prior written approval may be required before a Recipient makes certain budget modifications or undertakes particular activities. If NRC approval is required for changes in the grant or cooperative agreement, it must be requested and obtained from the NRC Grants Officer in advance of the change or obligation of funds. All requests for NRC prior approval, including requests for extensions to the period of performance, should be made, in writing (which includes submission by e-mail), to the designated Grants Officer 30 days before the proposed change. - See section 2 CFR §§ 200.330-332 for Subrecipient Monitoring and Management.

Unless otherwise authorized in 2 CFR Part 200 or by special award condition, any extension of the award period can only be authorized by the Grants Officer in writing. Assurances of funding from other than the Grants Officer shall not constitute authority to obligate funds for programmatic activities beyond the expiration date.

The NRC Grant Officer may authorize a no cost extension of the period of performance. However, the NRC has no obligation to provide any additional prospective or incremental funding. Any modification of the award to increase funding and to extend the period of performance is at the sole discretion of the NRC.

Automated Standard Application For Payments (ASAP) Procedures

Unless otherwise stated, Recipient payments are made using the Department of Treasury's Automated Standard Application for Payment (ASAP) system, ASAP.gov, through preauthorized electronic funds transfers. The following information is required to make ASAP withdrawals: (1) ASAP account number – the award number found on the cover sheet of the award; (2) Agency Location Code (ALC) – 31000001; and Region Code. Recipients enrolled in the ASAP system do not need to submit a "Request for Advance or Reimbursement" (SF-270).

II. Audit RequirementsAudits

Organization-wide or program-specific audits are performed in accordance with the Single Audit Act of 1996, as amended, and as implemented by 2 CFR Part 200, Subpart F—AUDIT REQUIREMENTS. Recipients are subject to the provisions of this subpart if they expend $750,000 or more in a year in Federal awards. See 2 CFR 200.501.

The Form SF-SAC and the Single Audit Reporting packages for fiscal periods ending on or after January 1, 2008 are submitted online, as follows:

2. Complete the Form SF-SAC;
3. Upload the Single Audit;
4. Certify the Submission; and

Organizations expending less than $750,000 a year are not required to have an annual audit for that year but must make their grant-related records available to NRC or other designated officials for review or audit.

III. Programmatic RequirementsGrant Performance Metrics

The Office of Management and Budget requires all Federal Agencies providing funding for educational scholarships and fellowships as well as other educational related funding to report on specific metrics. These metrics are part of the Academic Competitiveness Council's (ACC) 2007 report and specifically relates to Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics (STEM) curricula.

The performance (technical) reports will contain brief information as prescribed in the applicable uniform administrative requirements 2 CFR §200.328. In addition to the customary performance progress report requested on the SF-PPR, SF-PPR-B, and SF-PPR-E forms, OCHCO requires the following metrics to be reported on by the awardees as follows:

Faculty Development Metrics:

1. How many faculties have been sponsored by NRC funding?
 - a. Response is the number of faculty sponsored, for this reporting period and cumulative to the grant.
2. How many items have the sponsored faculty produced, for example, Professional Journal articles, publications, patents, or conference reports?
 - a. Response is the type and number of items, for this reporting period and cumulative to the grant.

Unsatisfactory Performance

Failure to perform the work in accordance with the terms of the award and maintain at least a satisfactory performance rating may result in designation of the Recipient as high risk and the assignment of special award conditions. Further action may be required as specified in the standard term and condition entitled "Remedies for Noncompliance."

Failure to comply with the award provisions may result in a negative impact on future NRC funding. In addition, the Grants Officer may withhold payments; change the method of payment from advance to reimbursement; impose special award conditions; suspend or terminate the grant.

Other Federal Awards With Similar Programmatic Activities

The Recipient will immediately notify the Project Officer and the Grants Officer in writing if after award, other financial assistance is received to support or fund any portion of the program description stated in the NRC award. NRC will not pay for costs that are funded by other sources.

Prohibition Against Assignment By The Recipient

The Recipient will not transfer, pledge, mortgage, or otherwise assign the award, or any interest to the award, or any claim arising under the award, to any party, banks, trust companies, or other financing or financial institutions without the written approval of the Grants Officer.

Site Visits

The NRC, through authorized representatives, has the right to make site visits to review project accomplishments and management control systems and to provide technical assistance as required. If any site visit is made by the NRC on the premises of the Recipient or contractor under an award, the Recipient shall provide and shall require his/her contractors to provide reasonable access to all facilities and provide necessary assistance for the safety and convenience of the Government representative in the performance of his/her official duties.

IV. Miscellaneous Requirements

Criminal and Prohibited Activities

The Program Fraud Civil Remedies Act (31 U.S.C. §§ 3801-3812), provides for the imposition of civil penalties against persons who make false, fictitious, or fraudulent claims to the Federal government for money (including money representing grant/cooperative agreements, loans, or other benefits).

False statements (18 U.S.C. § 287), provides that whoever makes or presents any false, fictitious, or fraudulent statements, representations, or claims against the United States shall be subject to imprisonment of not more than five years and shall be subject to a fine in the amount provided by 18 USC §287.

False Claims Act (31 U.S.C. § 3729 et seq.), provides that suits under this Act can be brought by the government, or a person on behalf of the government, for false claims under federal assistance programs.

Copeland "Anti-Kickback" Act (18 U.S.C. § 874), prohibits a person or organization engaged in a federally supported project from enticing an employee working on the project from giving up a part of his compensation under an employment contract.

American-Made Equipment And Products

Recipients are encouraged to purchase American-made equipment and products with funding provided under this award.

Increasing Seat Belt Use in the United States

E.O. 13043, amended by E.O. 13652, requires Recipients to encourage employees and contractors to enforce on-the-job seat belt policies and programs when operating company-owned, rented or personally-owned vehicle.

Federal Leadership of Reducing Text Messaging While Driving

E.O. 13513 requires Recipients to encourage employees, sub-awardees, and contractors to adopt and enforce policies that ban text messaging while driving company-owned, rented vehicles or privately owned vehicles when on official Government business or when performing any work for or on behalf of the Federal Government.

Federal Employee Expenses

Federal agencies are barred from accepting funds from a Recipient to pay transportation, travel, or other expenses for any Federal employee unless specifically approved in the terms of the award. Use of award funds (Federal or non-Federal) or the Recipient's provision of in-kind goods or services, for the purposes of transportation, travel, or any other expenses for any Federal employee may raise appropriation augmentation issues. In addition, NRC policy prohibits the acceptance of gifts, including travel payments for Federal employees, from Recipients or applicants regardless of the source.

Minority Serving Institutions (MSIs) Initiative

Pursuant to E.O.s 13230 and 13270, amended by E.O. 13316 and 13385, 13532, 13592, 13555, 13515, and 13621, NRC is strongly committed to broadening the participation of MSIs in its financial assistance program. NRC's goals include achieving full participation of MSIs in order to advance the development of human potential, strengthen the Nation's capacity to provide high-quality education, and increase opportunities for MSIs to participate in and benefit from Federal financial assistance programs. NRC encourages all applicants and Recipients to include meaningful participations of MSIs. Institutions eligible to be considered MSIs are listed on the Department of Education website: <http://www.ed.gov/about/offices/list/ocr/edlite-minorityinst.html>

Research Misconduct

Scientific or research misconduct refers to the fabrication, falsification, or plagiarism in proposing, performing, or reviewing research, or in reporting research results. It does not include honest errors or differences of opinions. The Recipient organization has the primary responsibility to investigate allegations and provide reports to the Federal Government. Funds expended on an activity that is determined to be invalid or unreliable because of scientific misconduct may result in a disallowance of costs for which the institution may be liable for repayment to the awarding agency. The Office of Science and Technology Policy at the White House published in the Federal Register on December 6, 2000, a final policy that addressed research misconduct. The policy was developed by the National Science and Technology Council (65 FR 76260). The NRC requires that any allegation be submitted to the Grants Officer, who will also notify the OIG of such allegation. Generally, the Recipient organization shall investigate the allegation and submit its findings to the Grants Officer. The NRC may accept the Recipient's findings or proceed with its own investigation. The Grants Officer shall inform the Recipient of the NRC's final determination.

Publications, Videos, and Acknowledgment of Sponsorship

Publication of the results or findings of a research project in appropriate professional journals and production of video or other media is encouraged as an important method of recording and reporting scientific information. It is also a constructive means to expand access to federally funded research. The Recipient is required to submit a copy to the NRC and when releasing information related to a funded project include a statement that the project or effort undertaken was or is sponsored by the NRC. The Recipient is also responsible for assuring that every publication of material (including Internet sites and videos) based on or developed under an award, except scientific articles or papers appearing in scientific, technical or professional journals, contains the following disclaimer:

"This [report/video] was prepared by [Recipient name] under award [number] from [name of operating unit], Nuclear Regulatory Commission. The statements, findings, conclusions, and recommendations are those of the author(s) and do not necessarily reflect the view of the [name of operating unit] or the US Nuclear Regulatory Commission."

(See 22 U.S.C. §7104(g).)
