ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY

Saint Louis University is a Catholic, Jesuit institution that values academic excellence, life-changing research, compassionate health care, and a strong commitment to faith and service.

Founded in 1818, the University fosters the intellectual and character development of more than 13,000 students on campuses in St. Louis, Missouri, and Madrid, Spain. Building on a legacy of nearly 200 years, Saint Louis University continues to move forward with an unwavering commitment to a higher purpose and a greater good.

MISSION OF GRADUATE EDUCATION

The mission of graduate education at Saint Louis University is to define and support excellence through teaching, research, scholarship and community service. Through the discovery of new knowledge, graduate students are prepared as leaders who will use, integrate and disseminate this knowledge to transform society in ways consistent with the values, ethics and intellectual ideals of a Catholic, Jesuit university. You will leave Saint Louis University not only with a degree, but with a deeper appreciation of the impact your degree can have on your life and that of others.

DIVERSITY STATEMENT

Faithful to its values of promoting social justice and the dignity of all human beings, Saint Louis University is committed to fostering an inclusive environment that welcomes and celebrates all expressions of diversity and identity that advance the Jesuit mission of forming men and women for and with others. This commitment inspires and prepares students, faculty and staff to create communities unburdened by discrimination and oppression.

STUDENT RESOURCES

We understand that committing to a graduate education is an important decision and a significant investment of time, energy and financial resources. We strive to support our students through mentoring, research resources and events, as well as to guide them through the process of securing financial assistance.

ASSISTANTSHIPS

Saint Louis University offers three categories of graduate assistantships: teaching, research and general. Typically, assistants work less than 20 hours per week and are awarded stipends, tuition scholarships, health insurance and extended library privileges. Check with your department for specifics.

A teaching assistant may serve as the primary instructor of a course, monitor exams, grade papers or help prepare lectures. Research assistants collaborate with faculty on funded research projects, assisting with research, field work and preparation of proposals and grants. General assistants may perform other duties such as clinical or administrative tasks related to their educational and career objectives. Contact your department for information on how to apply for an assistantship.

FELLOWSHIPS

Fellowships are awarded to graduate students who demonstrate outstanding scholastic achievement. Saint Louis University offers three types: Diversity Fellowship, Presidential Fellowship and Dissertation Fellowship. These are awarded for a maximum of two years to a master's student and for four years to a doctoral student, and they include tuition, monthly stipends and health insurance.

Each program may nominate one candidate for the Diversity Fellowship and one candidate for the Presidential Fellowship. Dissertation Fellowships are competitively awarded to doctoral candidates whose dissertations will significantly extend the body of knowledge within their disciplines. Students interested in being nominated for a fellowship should contact their department of interest.

SUPPORTING OUR STUDENTS

FINANCIAL SERVICES

The Office of Student Financial Services advises all SLU students seeking financial support beyond assistantships or fellowships. All students who seek additional funding should complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). In addition to assistantships and fellowships offered by the University, there are several other options for students to pursue financial assistance.

INTERNATIONAL SERVICES

The Office of International Services helps international students transition to the United States and supports them during their stay. The International Services staff advises students on academics, U.S. culture and immigration laws, and hosts activities and workshops on these topics. International Services also offers an international student lounge, located in the Center for Global Citizenship.

GRADUATE STUDENT ASSOCIATION

The Graduate Student Association (GSA) at SLU is an interdisciplinary organization committed to advocating for the graduate community, supporting students' professional development and serving as a social network for all graduate students. GSA assists graduate students with partial travel funding to annual academic conferences and hosts the annual Graduate Research Symposium, where SLU graduate students can present their cutting-edge research and compete for various awards.

RENOWNED FACULTY

Ninety-nine percent of tenured and tenure-track SLU faculty members hold the highest degree in their fields. SLU boasts 46 endowed chairs and 24 named professorships, and it is one of nine Catholic institutions recognized for "high" or "higher" research activity by the Carnegie Foundation.

During 2014-2015, SLU's Medical Center's researchers in health sciences received 243 awards for over $35.5 million from agencies such as the National Institutes of Health, National Science Foundation, Centers for Disease Control and other government sources, as well as private industries, associations and foundations.

SLU researchers in areas outside of health sciences received awards through grants, contracts and subcontracts from federal government agencies, associations, foundations and private sources, generating over $4 million during 2014-2015.

OUR DYNAMIC CITY

World-famous cultural gems, an active and diverse population, a vast array of internship and other professional opportunities — St. Louis has all this and more, packed into a large city that ranks as one of the most affordable places to live in the U.S., according to a 2015 survey by Forbes magazine.

MIDTOWN

Saint Louis University is located in the Arts District of Midtown St. Louis, in an area known as Grand Center. The neighborhood is home to more than 30 arts organizations, eight performance venues, a dozen museums and galleries, five public media organizations, multiple schools and churches, and many restaurants and shops. SLU's very own Chaifetz Arena adds to the bustle of Midtown as it draws in thousands of people year-round for concerts, performances, games, expos, graduations and other events.

CENTRAL WEST END

The Central West End is the neighborhood between SLU's campus and Forest Park, which is home to the Saint Louis Zoo, Saint Louis Art Museum, running and biking trails and more. Peppered with restaurants and cafés, beautiful turn-of-the-century homes and apartments, the CWE is a popular destination for students and young professionals looking for a lively atmosphere. Its proximity to Forest Park makes the area especially attractive to active individuals and families.

DISTANCE FROM SLU: 1.5 MILES

DOWNTOWN

Downtown St. Louis is home to a myriad of restaurants and nightlife, performance and art venues, major corporations, professional sports venues and historical landmarks, including the Gateway Arch and St. Louis Union Station. All of these offerings make the area an exciting place to live, work and explore.

DISTANCE FROM SLU: 2.5 MILES

TOWER GROVE SOUTH

Tower Grove South, also known as South Grand, boasts international diversity, offering a variety of foods and cultures in a concentrated area. It is close to Tower Grove Park, a home to several cultural festivals each year, monthly food truck gatherings and a beautiful spot for enjoying the outdoors. The Missouri Botanical Garden is another destination in the neighborhood.

THE HILL

The Hill wears its Italian heritage proudly on its sleeve. Known around St. Louis for its rich offering of Italian dining, the area is also a tight-knit residential neighborhood just minutes from Forest Park and the Missouri Botanical Garden.
