Logistics and Guidelines

When and Where

Phase I and the Phase II writing assessments are administered at various locations throughout the United States. The FBI has partnered with PSI Services (PSI) to administer the Special Agent Phase I tests at local testing sites for the convenience of applicants.

The Phase II structured interview is held at one of nine regional testing sites, located near airports in major U.S. cities. Complete travel and booking guidelines will be provided prior to testing. Applicants will be reimbursed for travel expenses upon completion of travel and timely submission of receipts.

Scheduling

For Phase I, applicants will receive an invitation from PSI, on behalf of the FBI, to schedule the test. Applicants will have up to 21 days from the date of invitation to schedule and complete the test.

For the Phase II Writing Assessment, applicants will receive an invitation from PSI, on behalf of the FBI, to schedule the written portion of Phase II testing. Applicants will have up to 14 days from the date of invitation to schedule and complete this assessment. The Phase II Structured Interview is scheduled after the Writing Assessment has been completed.

The invitation will be sent via email. Please check all email folders including spam and junk mail.

Eating/Drinking — Eating and drinking is not allowed during testing.

Smoking — Smoking and chewing tobacco are not permitted during testing.

Restroom Use — You may not use the restroom during administration of the tests unless it's an emergency.

Cellphone Use — You are not permitted to use a cellphone during the testing process.

Time Limits* — Time limits are strictly enforced. When time has elapsed, you must immediately stop what you are doing and await further instructions. Failure to comply will result in you being disqualified from the process.

 Special accommodations are available for those with a disability or impairment that will require a time extension.*

Reasonable Accommodations — The FBI provides reasonable accommodations to qualified individuals with disabilities. If you believe you have a disability that will require special arrangements during the hiring process, you may request a reasonable accommodation at any time by notifying your Applicant Coordinator. Each test in the hiring process is evaluated differently. Therefore, you must submit a reasonable accommodation request for each test, if needed. The decision to grant reasonable accommodations will be made on a case-by-case basis.

Talking — There will be no talking to other applicants once testing has begun.

Cheating — Any attempt to see another applicant's answers; obtain assistance verbally or in writing; or record, document or otherwise retain/discuss the questions/answers to the assessments is considered cheating. This ensures other potential applicants are not given an unfair advantage or disadvantage in the selection process. Applicants are required to sign a nondisclosure form prior to the assessment. If an applicant is found to have violated this agreement, he or she will be disqualified.

Leaving the Premises — Candidates are not permitted to leave the testing premises during testing.

Phase I Testing

Overview

The Phase I test is a computerized exam that takes approximately three hours to complete.

Phase I is comprised of five assessments that measure the critical thinking and reasoning skills required to perform the Special Agent job, as well as background experiences that indicate whether or not the Special Agent work environment would be a good fit. The five assessments focus on Logic-Based Reasoning, Figural Reasoning, Personality Assessment, Preferences and Interests and Situational Judgment.

The Phase I test is taken in a proctored environment offered by PSI. PSI's web-based registration and scheduling system allows you the flexibility to select the date, time and test center near you. Be sure to read all PSI emails carefully.

Your test will be administered by PSI's trained proctors. Proctors and testing centers are not affiliated with the FBI. Proctors will not answer position- or test-related questions. Contact the Applicant Coordinator or a recruiter at your Processing Field Office (PFO) with any questions about the Special Agent position.

Before leaving for your scheduled appointment, check the Test Center Closures site (secure.vitapowered.com/fbi/Closures.aspx) to verify that your center is open.

You need to arrive at the test center 15 minutes prior to the beginning of your Phase I test appointment. In most cases, you will not be allowed to enter the center until 15 minutes prior to your appointment.

You may only cancel or reschedule your appointment, without penalty, up to 48 hours before your scheduled appointment.

Phase I Expirations: Applicants are limited to two invitations before being deactivated unless a valid reason is provided. Applicants must wait a minimum of 90 days from the expiration date before a new invitation will be issued. Applicants who allow two Phase I invitations to expire without providing acceptable explanations may be deactivated from the Special Agent Selection System (SASS).

Phase I No-Shows: Applicants are limited to two no-shows before being deactivated unless a valid reason is provided. Applicants must contact their Field Office Applicant Coordinator as soon as possible and provide a written statement that details the reason for not taking the Phase I test. The FBI will ascertain the facts and circumstances regarding an applicant's failure to report for Phase I testing. If the reason is deemed acceptable, the FBI will reschedule the applicant for testing. If the reason is not deemed acceptable, the applicant may be deactivated.

If there is a major test disturbance (power or internet outage, fire drill, etc.) declared by PSI, you may be given the option to reschedule. If you have any concerns, contact your local Field Office Applicant Coordinator or recruiter immediately.

Applicants who do not pass Phase I are eligible to retest 90 days after their final test session. Not all applicants will be invited for a retest. Applicants who fail the Phase I Test twice will be deactivated and ineligible for future consideration for the Special Agent position.

Test-Taking Tips

Before the Test Session

- » Plan ahead so you are well-rested before the test session.
- » Make sure you know the exact location and time of the test session, allow plenty of time to get to the test site, use the restroom and relax.
- » Wear something comfortable; test sites may be slightly warm or cool so dress for a range of temperatures.
- » Reduce test anxiety and tension by breathing deeply and stretching before the test.
- » Start the test session with a positive attitude, determination to do your best and focus on what you do know, not on what you do not know.

During the Test Session

- » Read all of the test instructions carefully and follow them exactly.
- » Be sure you understand the test instructions before you start, if you need to ask questions, do so.
- » Read each question and all of the response options completely before choosing your answer.
 - Be careful not to add or skip any words in the question or response choices.
- Pay attention to words like NOT and EXCEPT.
- Do not over-interpret questions or try to find hidden meanings, the questions are not designed to be tricky.
- » If you have time remaining at the end of a test, proofread your answers.
- » Try to stay relaxed; if you have trouble concentrating or become tense, pause and take a few deep breaths.

Test Preparation

The FBI does not endorse any test preparation materials beyond what can be found on FBIJobs.gov or within this guide.

Phase I Test Components

The Phase I Test is comprised of five assessments that measure critical thinking and reasoning skills, as well as background experiences that indicate whether or not the Special Agent work environment would be a good fit. The five assessments focus on Logic-Based Reasoning, Figural Reasoning, Personality Assessment, Preferences and Interests and Situational Judgment.

IMPORTANT

Do not attempt to “beat the test” by claiming qualities or experiences that you do not really have. Clearly, the FBI does not wish to hire candidates who provide unrealistic or false responses. If, during later portions of the hiring process, such as a background check, the FBI determines that you falsified your responses at any point in the Special Agent Selection System, you may be permanently barred from employment.

Logic-Based Reasoning

The Logic-Based Reasoning Test assesses your ability to read a set of facts and use problem solving and reasoning skills. You must draw logical conclusions about the inferences that can and cannot be made based on the presented facts. The questions in this section consist of a short paragraph followed by a multiple choice question which requires interpretation of the information in the paragraph. Based on the information provided, test takers must choose the correct answer from five multiple choice options. No pen and paper or calculations are necessary to identify the correct answer.

Duration: This section contains 11 questions.

Preparation: Thoroughly read through the descriptions, statements and questions. Read carefully and attentively. Use the information from the description ONLY; do not introduce outside information to make the final selection. Pay attention to words such as MUST or ONLY and answer accordingly.

Types of Statements

Statements that include the word “all” or “every” indicate that the facts that apply to one group also apply to another group. However, the statement does not allow you to infer that the facts that apply to the second group also apply to the first group.

“All” Statements

Example Statement: All employees in the payroll department work part time.

Invalid Inference: All part-time employees work in the payroll department.

Valid Inference: Some part-time employees work in the payroll department.

“No” Statements

Statements that include the word “no” or “none” indicate that the facts that apply to one group do not apply to another group. “No” statements allow you to infer that there is no overlap between the two groups.

Example Statement: None of the employees in the payroll department play on the company softball team.

Invalid Inference: Some of the members of the company softball team work in the payroll department.

Valid Inference: None of the members of the company softball team work in the payroll department.

"Some" Statements

Statements that include the word "some," "many" or "few" indicate that the facts presented only apply to a portion of the groups/people in one group. "Some" statements do not allow you to make inferences about the remaining people in the group.

Example Statement: Some of the employees in the payroll department also work from home.

Invalid Inference: Some of the employees in the payroll department do not work from home.

Valid Inference: Some of the employees who work from home are in the payroll department.

"If-then" Statements

Statements that include "if-then," "whenever" or "every time" provide information about sequence of events. "If-then" statements do not allow you to reverse the order of the statements. Additionally, in order to negate the sequence of events, both events must be negated.

Example Statement: If the employees in the payroll department finish their work, then they can take Friday off.

Invalid Inference: If the employees in the payroll department take Friday off, then they can finish their work.

Invalid Inference: If the employees in the payroll department do not finish their work, they can take Friday off.

Valid Inference: If the employees in the payroll department do not finish their work, they cannot take Friday off.

Sample Questions

Shannon is in the produce section of his grocery store and he asks about the general cost differences across the various types of produce. If he learns that the below statements are factual, which of the response options also MUST be true?

Bananas are cheaper than oranges.

Blueberries are cheaper than raspberries.

Raspberries are more expensive than oranges.

Grapefruits are more expensive than blueberries.

- A Blueberries are the cheapest fruit available.
- B Bananas are cheaper than raspberries.
- C Blueberries are more expensive than bananas.
- D Raspberries and grapefruits are the same price.
- E Oranges are less expensive than grapefruits.

Correct Answer

Based on the information provided, raspberries are more expensive than oranges and oranges are more expensive than bananas. Oranges are the key piece of information that provides sufficient information to compare raspberries and bananas. With this information, the statement that raspberries are more expensive than bananas is the accurate choice (Option B).

There has been a rash of money laundering cases in a particular region. These cases are overseen by either Team A or Team B. Cases that are valued under 1 million dollars will not be overseen by Team A. Some of the investigations will be overseen by Team A.

Based on the information above, which of these statements MUST be true?

- A Some money laundering investigations valued under 1 million dollars are overseen by Team A.
- B None of the money laundering investigations are valued under 1 million dollars.
- C Some money laundering investigations are not valued under 1 million dollars.
- D Every money laundering case valued over 1 million dollars is overseen by Team A.
- E None of the money laundering cases valued under 1 million dollars are cases handled by Team B.

Correct Answer

The correct answer is C. Based on the information provided in the passage, Team A will not oversee cases valued under 1 million dollars. In other words, Team A will oversee cases valued at 1 million dollars or greater. Meanwhile, there is less explicit information about what Team B is doing. Therefore, C is the correct response.

Figural Reasoning

The Figural Reasoning Test assesses your ability to use problem solving and reasoning to identify the shape or image that logically fits the pattern. The Figural Reasoning questions contain images that include a sequence of shapes and patterns. As seen in the sample multiple choice questions below, one section of the arrangement is missing. Your goal is to determine the next picture that logically fits within the pattern. Patterns may follow the three rows or columns, and may involve any aspect of the figures, including shape, color, number of shapes or sides, or other characteristics.

Duration: This section contains nine questions.

Preparation: Comprehensively review the sequenced shapes and patterns. Take a moment to determine the arrangement. Recheck your selection before moving on to the next sequence.

Correct Answer

The correct answer is B. The pattern adds one of each shape to each row across columns. For example, the left column—in descending order by row—is made up of one square, then two squares, then three squares. The middle column—in descending order, is made up of two stars, then three stars, then four stars. As the right column contains circles, B is the only option that satisfies that pattern. The other possible pattern is to solve by row. The top row—from left to right by column—is made up of one square, then two stars, then three circles. The middle row—from left to right—is made up of two squares, then three stars, then four circles. Again, B is the only response option that satisfies that pattern.

Correct Answer

Two shapes in each row are combined—or laid over each other—to create a new shape. Overlapping shapes are eliminated so that only the unique blocks from the two shapes remain. For example, in the top row, the second and third pictures combine and make the first picture. In the second row, the first and third images combine to make the second/middle image. C is the only shape that fits this pattern as it is a combination of both shapes in the bottom row.

Personality Assessment

The Personality Assessment measures aspects of your personality to identify those that possess traits necessary to be a successful Special Agent. You will be presented with five pairs of statements on each screen. You will be asked to use the slider to indicate the degree to which you agree with one of the two statements. This test is adaptive, so your responses on the previous questions will be used to determine the next set of questions you are presented with. Note that you will not be able to choose a neutral position.

Duration: This section contains 100 statements.

Preparation: Read each statement completely and carefully. At times, it may be hard to choose because you agree or disagree with both statements. This is a normal part of the assessment. This section does not contain any explanatory answers, as the answers are based on your personal characteristics.

The closer you move the selector toward a statement indicates a greater level of agreement with that statement than the other. For each pair of statements, you must move the selector left or right, you cannot leave it in the middle.

The Preferences and Interests Test gathers information about your personal attitudes toward a variety of statements. Similar to the personality assessment, this test identifies those that possess the dispositional qualities to be successful as a Special Agent. You will be presented with a statement and a rating scale with five response options ranging from "Strongly Agree" to "Strongly Disagree." Choose the response option that most closely indicates your level of agreement with the statement.

Duration: This section contains 37 questions.

Preparation: Do not dwell on the statements. Answer with the response option that reflects your agreement with the statement. Try not to "read into" the statement. Remember to choose the option that most accurately describes you.

Situational Judgment

The Situational Judgment Test measures your judgement in response to everyday situations. You will be presented with various scenarios, each of which will have five response options to choose from. The scenarios describe situations and problems that you are likely to encounter in a typical work environment. Each response option will propose a different way of responding to the scenario. You should choose the response option that is most consistent with how you would actually respond.

Duration: This section contains 19 questions.

Preparation: Do not dwell on the statements or scenarios. Answer with the statement that closely reflects how it applies to you. Try not to “read into” the statement. Remember the choice is not right or wrong, but instead what is best for you.

Practice Test Answer Key

Please review the answer key for questions 1–20, including explanations of the correct answers for each question.

Note: There are no correct or incorrect answers for questions 21 through 50; therefore, an answer key is not provided for these questions.

- E We know from the information provided that although some applicants can interview with a recruiter virtually, none of the applicants who live within a 25-mile radius of the company can interview with a recruiter virtually. Therefore, E is the correct response.
- B We are told that only two food items can be made in the same day. According to the information provided, we know that bread is produced on Mondays and that cupcakes are made on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays. Since both bread and cupcakes are made on Mondays, the correct response is B.
- B We are told that in order for the company to be acquired, the Board of Directors must make their request for approval before 1:00 p.m. This conditional statement is the key piece of information here. We know that if the company was acquired, the Board of Directors had to have made their request for approval before the 1:00 p.m. deadline. Therefore, B is the correct answer.
- B Based on the question, we should look for foods that can be served on Tuesdays. Sautéed mushrooms in garlic sauce can be served on all days except for Wednesdays and barbecued chicken with garbanzo beans can be served on all days except for Fridays. Therefore, we can determine that both of these foods can be served on Tuesday. We are also told explicitly that blackened sea bass with quinoa can be served on Tuesday. Based on this information, we can deduce that B is the correct response.
- B We know, based on the provided information, that the federal road department has control of all of the roads. In addition to being controlled by the federal government, some of these roads are also controlled by the state road department. Given this information, we can infer that because the federal road department has control of all roads, and that the state road department also controls some of those roads, the federal road department controls all of the roads that the state road department controls. Therefore, B is the correct response.
- C We know from the question that none of the documents that are mailed to the client using noncertified mail is a notarized document. Based on this we can infer that any noncertified mail that is sent to the client is not a notarized document. Therefore, C is the correct response.
- B Based on the information provided, here is what we know: All vendors in the vendor tracking system (VTS) are private limited liability companies (PLLC). We also know that none of the vendors that are a part of the VTS are funded through private investors. In other words, all VTS companies are PLLCs and none of the companies are privately funded. Therefore, none of the PLLCs in the VTS receive private funding. Therefore, the correct response option is B.
- C We know that all employees on the team have received an award from within their industry. Of these employees, some have also received the Dzyne Magazine award. Based on this information, the correct response is C.
- E We know from the information provided that although Jameson was outscored by Stella, he was not the lowest-ranked candidate, leaving Frederick to be ranked the lowest. We also know that Stella was outranked by Paul. Given that we are explicitly told that Katherine had the highest score, we can determine that Paul must have been ranked second, making E the correct response.

10. C We are told that if David finishes his current project, then his boss will approve his vacation request, which then allows David to take his vacation. Given that we are explicitly told that the middle statement is true, we can deduce that if David has finished his project, then he can go on his vacation, making answer C the correct response.
11. B In this image, we see that each row has one of each shape and that each shape is rotated an additional 45 degrees from the previous row. Based on this information, B is the correct response.
12. B In this image, we see that each row has the same shape, but that the size and color of that shape are varied across columns. Based on this pattern, B is the correct response.
13. E In this image, the small squares on the outside of the large square represent positive numbers, while the small squares on the inside of the large square represent negative numbers. Column 3 is the sum of columns 1 and 2. Based on this logic, if we combine 4 (the number of squares on the outside of the square) and -6 (the number of squares on the inside of the square), we are left with -2. Since E is the only option that has 2 squares inside the square, this is the correct response.
14. C In this image, the number of figures in the first and second column are multiplied. This value is then subtracted by the number of figures in the second column, which equals the number of figures in the third column. For example, in the top row, the first column has 4 figures, the second column 3 figures. When multiplied, this expression equals 12. 12 minus 3 (the number of figures in column 2) equals 9. Applying this same logic to the bottom row, multiplying 2 by 1 equals 2. Subtracting 1 from 2 leaves you with 1, making C the correct answer.
15. D In this image, the number of horizontal lines is added to the number of vertical lines in the first column. Then, the number of dots on the inside of the circle is subtracted from the number of dots on the outside of the circle in the second column. The value in column 1 is then divided by the value in column 2 to determine the number of sides the shape in column 3 will have. Based on this information, D is the correct response.
16. D In this image, if we subtract the number of sides in the first column from the number of sides in the second column, we are left with the number of lines in the third column. Based on this information, D is the correct response.
17. B In this image, if we divide the number of lines in the first column by the number of sides in the second column, we are left with the number of dots in the third column. Based on this information, B is the correct response.
18. B In this image, combining two of the simpler shapes within each row works to create the most complex shape within that same row, making B the correct response.
19. C In this image, the shape remains consistent across the row. Additionally, the color remains consistent down the column. What changes, however, is the placement of the dot. The dot rotates, clockwise, to the next side of the shape. Based on this information, C is the correct response option.
20. E There are two ways to solve this pattern. Within each row from left to right, each column adds one more shape from the preceding column, while the size of shapes remains constant within each row. In the bottom row, Columns 1 and 2 have 3 and 4 figures, respectively. The number of shapes in the bottom right square must be 5, making E the correct response. The number of shapes within each column also increases by 1 for each row from top to bottom. E is also the only option that satisfies this pattern.

Meet and Greet Session

Overview

Applicants who successfully pass the Phase I test and complete the Required Information portion of the application will be invited to a Meet and Greet session, which is held at their PFO. During the Meet and Greet session, applicants will be able to speak directly to an FBI Special Agent, learn about Bureau policy requirements, verify and expand on the information they provided in their resume and ask questions about the position and/or process. Applicants are expected to wear professional business attire to the Meet and Greet session.

After an applicant has completed the Meet and Greet session and submitted any additional required documentation, his or her application will be evaluated to assess competitiveness for Phase II. Applicants are evaluated based on the FBI Core Competencies in order to determine their competitiveness for Phase II. Only applicants deemed Competitive will be invited to take the Phase II assessment.

FBI Core Competencies

- » Collaboration
- » Communication
- » Flexibility and Adaptability
- » Initiative
- » Interpersonal Ability
- » Leadership
- » Organizing and Planning
- » Problem Solving and Judgment

Language Testing

Applicants who wish to be tested for proficiency in a foreign language should request a language test after passing Phase I.

Current FBI Employees

All current FBI employees must submit a Division Head Recommendation (DHR) before being allowed to move to the next step of the hiring process. DHRs should be requested from your Division Head after passing Phase I. For more information, contact your Applicant Coordinator.

Phase II Testing

Overview: Writing Assessment and Structured Interview

Applicants who successfully pass the Phase I test and successfully complete the Meet and Greet session will be assessed on their competitiveness for Phase II. Only candidates deemed Competitive will be invited to take the Phase II test.

The Phase II consists of two parts, a Writing Assessment and a Structured Interview. The Phase II Writing Assessment must be completed first in order to be eligible to receive an invitation for the Structured Interview. Once you receive an invitation for the Phase II Writing Assessment, you must sign up to take the test at a local PSI testing center and complete it within 14 days of receiving the invitation. After completing the Phase II Writing Assessment, you will receive an email invitation to the Phase II Structured Interview at one of the nine regional sites.

Applicants who fail Phase II testing may be eligible for one retest at least one year from their interview date. Not all applicants will be invited to retest.

Due to the overwhelming volume of Special Agent applicants, the FBI will only retest those applicants who meet the Bureau's current needs. Applicants who will exceed the age limit or who cannot be processed prior to their 37th birthday will not be retested. For more information, please see: "The Special Agent Selection Process: All You Need to Know to Apply" (page 14, Technical Explanations and Exceptions).

Applicants interested in retesting for Phase II should reapply to the current Special Agent posting.

Writing Assessment

The Writing Assessment exam is two and a half hours long and tests applicants' ability to analyze data and prepare two comprehensive reports.

At the start of the Writing Assessment, applicants will be given detailed instructions and other materials to use. Applicants will read about a fictional scenario and provide typed written reports.

Time will be provided for an optional break midway through the written exam.

Writing Assessment Logistics

Similar to Phase I, the Phase II Writing Assessment is taken in a proctored environment offered by PSI. PSI's web-based registration and scheduling system allows you the flexibility to select the date, time and a test center near you. Be sure to read all PSI emails carefully.

Your test will be administered by PSI's trained proctors. Proctors and testing centers are not affiliated with the FBI. Proctors will not answer position- or test-related questions. Contact your PFO's Applicant Coordinator or recruiter with any questions about the Special Agent position.

Before leaving for your scheduled appointment, check the Test Center Closures site (secure.vitapowered.com/fbi/Closures.aspx) to verify that your center is open.

Please arrive at the test center 15 minutes before the beginning of your Phase II test appointment. In most cases, you will not be allowed to enter the center until 15 minutes prior to your appointment.

Writing Assessment Tips

Before the Test Session

- » Plan ahead so you are well-rested before the test session.
- » Make sure you know the exact location and time of the test session. Allow plenty of time to get to the test site, use the restroom and relax.
- » Wear something comfortable; test sites may be slightly warm or cool so dress for a range of temperatures.
- » Reduce test anxiety and tension by breathing deeply and stretching before the test begins.
- » Start the test session with a positive attitude, determined to do your best and focus on what you do know, not on what you do not know.

During the Test Session

There is no preparation manual available for the Writing Assessment, but we suggest that applicants:

- » Read instructions carefully and make sure you understand what the exercises require.
- » Be detailed and thorough in your writing.
- » Use only the facts provided — do not make up additional facts.
- » Follow grammatical rules and spell words correctly. Software to check spelling and grammar will not be available during this exam.
- » If you have time remaining at the end of each section, proofread your responses.
- » Try to stay relaxed; if you have trouble concentrating or become tense, pause and take a few deep breaths.

Phase II Expirations: Applicants are limited to two invitations before being deactivated unless a valid reason is provided. Applicants must wait a minimum of 90 days from the expiration date before a new invitation will be issued. Applicants who allow two Phase II invitations to expire without providing acceptable explanations may be deactivated from the Special Agent Selection System (SASS).

Phase II No-Shows: Applicants are limited to two no-shows before being deactivated unless a valid reason is provided. Applicants must contact their Field Office Applicant Coordinator as soon as possible and provide a written statement that details the reason for not taking the Writing Assessment. The FBI will ascertain the facts and circumstances regarding an applicant's failure to report for Phase II testing. If the reason is deemed acceptable, the FBI will reschedule the applicant for testing. If the reason is not deemed acceptable, the applicant may be deactivated.

If there is a major test disturbance (power or internet outage, fire drill, etc.) declared by PSI, you may be given the option to reschedule. If you have any concerns, contact your local Field Office Applicant Coordinator or recruiter immediately.

Structured Interview

The structured interview is one hour long and is administered by a panel of three Special Agents.

It follows the standard performance-based interview format for government interviews. The panel uses standardized scoring criteria to measure the competencies that are important for the Special Agent position.

Structured Interview Tips

- » Be yourself.
- » Remember that the interview panel knows no information about you beyond your name.
- » Provide detailed information when answering the interview questions. Provide the best examples of your skills and abilities, drawing from all of your life experiences, not just the most recent ones.
- » The evaluators will be taking notes during the interview to assist them in documenting the results. Do not let this distract you.
- » Do not make assumptions about what the evaluators are seeking. The interview instructions are straightforward. There are no "trick" questions.

Applicants who fail the Phase II Test twice will be deactivated and ineligible for future consideration for the Special Agent position.

Test Preparation

The FBI does not endorse any test preparation materials beyond what can be found on FBIJobs.gov or within this guide.

IMPORTANT

An applicant will be deactivated for receiving advice beyond what is provided by the Applicant Coordinator and/or what is available at FBIJobs.gov. This includes information gathered from online sources or FBI employees.

Physical Fitness Test (PFT)

Taking the Official PFT

The FBI Special Agent position requires a commitment to physical fitness as part of daily life. In addition to the self-administered PFT you took prior to submitting your Special Agent application, you will take an official standard PFT at least two times during the application period and/or at the FBI Academy. Specifically:

- » At your PFO shortly after passing Phase II.
- » No more than 120 days prior to reporting to the Basic Field Training Course (BFTC) at the FBI Academy. If an applicant is scheduled to report to a BFTC
- » within 120 days of passing his or her post-Phase II PFT, an additional PFT is not required.
- » At least once while at the FBI Academy, during the first week of the BFTC.

The test, scoring scale and protocol are exactly the same with an addition of the standard pullups event. The score on pullups is not used for pass/fail purposes but is considered for fitness awards at the Academy.

The standard PFT consists of four main events, with a fifth event for candidates in the Tactical Recruitment Program (TRP). These events were chosen because they accurately measure an individual’s overall fitness level relative to the essential tasks performed by FBI Special Agents. The events are administered in the following order with no more than five minutes of rest in between each event:

1. Maximum number of continuous situps in one minute.
2. Timed 300-meter sprint.
3. Maximum number of continuous pushups (untimed).
4. Timed 1.5-mile run.
5. Maximum number of pullups (untimed).*

Note: Only candidates in the TRP will complete this event.*

Each event must be performed precisely according to the strictly defined protocol in order to be scored. In order to pass the standard PFT, applicants must achieve a minimum cumulative score of 12 points in the first four events, with at least one point in each of the first four events; therefore, it is possible for an applicant to receive a score of 12 (or more) and still fail the standard PFT by failing one of the individual events. TRP applicants must achieve a minimum score of 20 points and must score at least one point in each of the five events to pass the TRP PFT.

A video demonstrating proper PFT form is available at FBIJobs.gov/career-paths/special-agents (see Physical Requirements tab).

For more specifics on the PFT events, please refer to “The Special Agent Selection Process: All You Need to Know to Apply.”

Conditional Appointment Offer

Next Steps

After passing Phase I, Phase II and the official Physical Fitness Test (PFT), qualified candidates will receive a Conditional Appointment Offer (CAO). This letter extends a conditional job offer for the Special Agent position to the candidate and provides details on the FBI background investigation, salary and next steps. Actual hiring is contingent on the successful completion of the remaining SASS components (medical, background investigation, graduation from the FBI Academy, etc.).

Flexibility is key at the FBI. You must be prepared and willing to be assigned according to the needs of the Bureau. All Agents must sign and adhere to a mobility agreement, which states that as a Special Agent you accept the possibility of transfer as a condition of your employment. However, once assigned to a Field Office, new Special Agents are generally not transferred unless they request voluntary transfer, apply for management positions, or as a result of an emerging or existing critical need.

Upon graduation from the FBI Academy, you will be assigned to one of the FBI's 56 Field Offices or satellite offices. Roughly one-third of new agents get their first choice. If you still aren't sure about the transfer process, keep in mind that the mission comes first. Over the past three years, on average, new Agents leaving Quantico have been assigned to one of their top five-ranked offices. Furthermore, the FBI's greatest need is in offices like New York, Los Angeles, San Francisco and San Juan. If that's where you want to be, we'll guarantee that's where you'll end up.
