Trade small-cap stocks a.k.a Penny Stocks as they are easier than larger companies.	Penny Stocks are very volatile-which makes it ideal for small accounts.
Be grateful for every single dollar you make. Be humble.	It took me 3,796 trades to get $4.39 million. So, small gains add up over time.
Making money doesn't need to be a 9-5job. Some of my post profitable traders only took a few hours.	Never play guess in stocks. 70% of investors fail to beat the major stock market indices and 90-95% of traders lose due to this.
Every trade in new, but the patterns don't change much because human nature doesn't change.	Perfect timing is a myth. So, focus on growing your overall net worth.
Doesn't matter if the market is up or down, find opportunities in all markets.	Losses are not bad if you cut them quickly and learn from them, they're an essential part of your education.
Trade 'gimme' set ups. Memorize patterns and follow rules to make money.	Buy Breakouts.
Shorting Breakdowns is addictive.	Dip buy when support holds.
Always keep it simple (KISS).	Have a plan ready if the stock doesn't go your way.
You don't have to trade everyday, wait for the best setups, they will make you rich.	Never feel uncomfortable in ANY trade/investment, if it's not doing what you want, just get out.
Have a goal to make 20-50% within a few hours of days.	Overtime you learn how your strategies and various patterns perform. Tailor your trading to your personality.
Use a trade journal. Keep track of your trades; the good, the bad, and the ugly. Use a paper and pen, excel or Profit.ly.	Live to trade another day! No 1 trade will make you rich enough to never trade again but 1 bad trade can wipe out your trading account.
When there's no great setup, sit in all cash. One of my students with $500,000 in profits has 80% of profits come from 6% of trades!	Never follow anyone else's alerts. use all the info you can of the traders and publicly listed research to craft your own strategy.
If you're going to set goals, be sure to make them count.	Trade the actual stock, not PRs or management promises.

Avoid FOMO since it can and will lead to making poor decisions.	Trade only volatile outliers in ALL markets. It's good to have a well-rounded strategy.
Shorting penny stocks can be VERY predictable since majority of them. will eventually fail.	Start today. The sooner you have trading knowledge the more money you will make over time.
use Scans, Software, Charts, Level1, Level2, Fundamentals, Pre-programmed strategies to look for the hottest stocks each day.	Avoid scalping when the stock isn't living up to your expectations. Just quit or else it will wipe out 2-weeks, 2-months, or 2-years of your profits.
Until you have a consistent track record of wins, you should never trade large position sizes. Always protect your risk/blindside.	Even if you only trade a few hours a week, treat those few hours as a business, not hobby.
A successful trader as a mentor can speed up your education.
