

Who Am I?

theboldabode.com

Simply print this page, cut each word out, and grab a roll of tape.

To play, tape one of the words on each person's back without letting them see it.

Set a time limit and instruct the players to try to figure out what Christmas item or character is taped to their back by asking questions that require only a yes/no answer.

One stipulation: they can only ask each person two questions and then they must move on to another person. This game is lots of fun and gets your entire group mingling!

I've included a blank set of labels so you can add your own Christmas characters!
