

"The Credit Counseling Industry's Largest Trade Association"

October 26, 2009

Donald S. Clark, Secretary
Federal Trade Commission
Office of the Secretary
Room H-135 (Annex T)
600 Pennsylvania Ave, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20850

Comments on the Telemarketing Sales Rule, Debt Relief Amendments, R411001

Dear Secretary Clark:

On behalf of the credit counseling industry, the American Association of Debt Management Organizations (AADMO) is pleased to provide the following information to the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) in its consideration of proposed rulemaking to 16 CFR Part 310, the Telemarketing Sales Rule (TSR).

AADMO is the largest trade association for the credit counseling industry. Nationwide, the majority of licensed and legally operating credit counseling agencies are members of AADMO.

AADMO is an industry education and advocacy organization the mission of which is to promote and ensure the continued operation and viability of credit counseling and debt management organizations.

AADMO members are consumer credit counseling agencies, debt management organizations, credit counselors, personal finance educators, credit and debt information educators, bankruptcy pre-filing counselors, bankruptcy pre-discharge educators, consumer lawyers and many others.

AADMO is the only trade association to have held state law compliance workshops with the New York State Banking Department and the California Department of Corporations upon enactment of their respective laws governing credit counseling. AADMO is also the only trade association for the industry to publish a formal summary of state laws that has been reviewed by state regulators.

Unlike other organizations in the industry, AADMO represents the entire credit counseling industry: tax-exempt, non-profit and for-profit organizations.

AADMO is making our comments in light of the proposed extension of the TSR wherein "The Commission intends that the definition of "debt relief service" encompass a broad swath of debt relief activities, including offers of debt settlement or negotiation services and debt management plans".

The FTC has stated, "...the proposed amendments are intended to address consumer protection concerns regarding telemarketing of debt relief services and are based on evidence in the record to date suggesting that deceptive and abusive acts are pervasive..."

"The growth in the industry (debt relief) has been accompanied by a rise in the volume of complaints about deceptive, unfair, and abusive practices involving debt settlement."

We believe that sound public policy is based on accurate data and accurate analysis. At present, the "evidence in the record" in this matter is flawed and taints the evaluation of the commingled "debt relief" industry.

As you know, AADMO made a Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request of the FTC for all consumer complaints filed with the agency against credit counseling agencies, debt management organizations and debt settlement companies (collectively "debt relief") in 2008.

The data was reviewed and determined that in 2008 there were 7308 individual consumer complaints filed. AADMO reviewed each consumer complaint by company name and address and used publicly available information to ascertain the business type of each company.

In reviewing the data, AADMO conducted internet searches for each company using first the address of the company and then the name of the company. This helped identify questionable or incorrectly spelled company names and solidify the identity of the respective company.

In our data provided to the FTC concurrent with these comments, Column A is the number of complaints alleged against the company. Column B is the FTC's "name" of the company. Column C is our categorization of the company based on public information. The categorization in Column C is derived from Column F - the supporting URL source of the data. In instances where the search could not yield a meaningful confirmation of the company at issue, we have designated the company categorization as "unknown". The categorization of any specific entity was based on the best available data that provided a logical connection between an entity, address and internet presence.

In the data, there were several hundred complaints that were unable to be identified or classified due to a complete lack of company name or vague references that also caused the identification of the company to not be made. We found:

No designation at all	464
Unable to designate	100
"Account Services"	42
"Card Services"	62
"Credit Card Account Services"	25
"Credit Card Services"	62
"Financial Services"	20
"Unknown"	443

The data also yielded a substantial number of creditor complaints that were not against "debt relief" organizations but rather actual lenders or their servicing partners. For example, the data includes the following complaints:

America's Servicing Company	47
Capitol One	119
Citi Financial	51
HSBC	1,036
Pay Pal	683
Sears	118
Wells Fargo	16

Within the complaint universe, there were numerous complaints that clearly had no relevancy whatsoever to "debt relief". These included auto warranties, carpet cleaning services, the Disney movie club, Country Music Television, freight forwarding, gift cards and 8 complaints against government agencies.

The data also has extensive groupings of complaints against credit card processing, credit bureaus, credit repair, currency exchanges and 116 separate creditors.

AADMO does not offer an opinion about the data other than to state that the classification of the complaints is inconsistent and clearly erroneous with the inclusion of creditors, collection agencies, insurance companies and other enterprises not properly contained in the "debt relief" definition.

We hope that this information will assist the FTC in its consideration of its proposed rulemaking for the TSR.

The FTC is advised that due to information gaps and limited identification criteria, some complaints may not be attached or ascribed to the proper company. The data is for demonstration purposes only and may not reflect the performance history of any specific organization. The categorization of companies in this data is generalized for discussion purposes and may not accurately reflect the actual business operations of any organization.

If you have any questions or require any additional information, please feel free to contact me at 281-361-2325.

Sincerely,

Mark Guimond
Executive Director

Due to information gaps and limited identification criteria, some complaints may not be attached or ascribed to the proper company.
