The School shall check the Criminal Offender Record Information (“CORI”) for each Participant who may be present on APG’s premises as part of the Program. The School shall disqualify Participants as appropriate under the guidelines promulgated by the Massachusetts Executive Office of Health and Human Service (“EOHHS”) and the Department of Mental Health (“DMH”). These guidelines may be found in the EOHHS Human Resource Policy Manual. No Participant will be permitted to participate in the Program without a satisfactory CORI check. The School shall also notify each Participant that a CORI check will be performed and that the Participant’s participation in the Program is contingent on the outcome of the CORI check. The School shall comply with all requirements relating to dissemination of information related to the CORI check. CORI checks and disqualification decisions must be made at least 10 business days prior to the date on which the Participant is scheduled to begin. The School may comply with these CORI obligations independently, or it may request that APG conduct CORI checks and disqualify Participants as appropriate on the School’s behalf, at a cost to the School. If the School opts to perform the CORI checks and make determinations regarding disqualification independently, the School will represent and warrant that it has performed a CORI check for each Participant and disqualified ineligible Participants consistent with EOHHS and DMH guidelines, and will provide documentation of these facts upon request. If the School delegates its CORI obligations to APG, APG will initiate checks only after it has received a release from the School for each Participant and all decisions by APG shall be final.

The Caregivers Criminal History Screening Program maintains a database of criminal record information and a registry of all caregivers screened through the Department of Health. It also offers an administrative reconsideration process that allows caregivers to request a reconsideration of the results of a disqualifying conviction, thus allowing avenue for care providers to retain valuable and/or long-term employees. Other program benefits include: discourages potential applicants with criminal felony convictions from applying for employment in a health care environment; locates individuals with outstanding warrants and/or parole violations; encourages care providers to be more cautious in the applicant screening process prior to offering employment and discovers individuals who may have falsified their application and are currently employed in the health care environment and have disqualifying convictions.
