

'Twas Yesterday We Parted

By Angie Garber on the death of her brother George Garber

*'Twas yesterday we parted,
The one I love and I;
I stayed on earth - he entered
Those mansions of the sky,
Where all is joy forever
And tears are wiped away;
Where God's most holy presence
Outshines the brightest day.*

*'Twas yesterday we parted,
And though he left me here
The Savior stood beside me
My saddened heart to cheer
He gave me sweet assurance
That, by His wondrous grace,
The one I love so dearly
Now sees God's blessed face.*

*'Twas yesterday we parted -
He did not say "Goodbye,"
For well he knows tomorrow
We'll join him in the sky.
Oh precious Lord we praise Thee
For grace so freely given,
For though we part - Tomorrow
We'll meet, with Thee, in heaven.*
