

THE SEVEN FIGURE FORMULA

FIVE TRUMP PENNY STOCKS THAT COULD MAKE YOU RICH

Five Trump Penny Stocks That Could Make You Rich

---

Love him or hate him, Donald Trump could make you rich.

You just need to take two simple actions...

First, ignore everything the mainstream media are saying about Trump.

Then, follow the “Trump Blueprint.”

You see, while the mainstream media are busy criticizing Trump’s latest tweet, something far bigger and more important is happening.

And it’s already making a lot of people a ridiculous amount of money.

Experts estimate that Trump’s policies could unleash a wave of wealth not seen since Ronald Reagan.

As The New York Times says: “The current wave of enthusiasm recalls the days after Ronald Reagan’s election in 1980.”

Remember when Reagan was ridiculed as “not serious” and a B-movie actor?

They dismissed him as a fool. They said he could never win.

Now we look back at the Reagan era as one of the greatest in our country’s history.

Why?

Because his policies led to a $5 trillion boom in the markets from 1982–89.

And there’s no denying the fact that Trump’s economic plan is very similar to Reagan’s.

Eliminating regulation? Check.

Cutting income taxes? Check.

Increasing military and infrastructure spending? Check.

There’s only one BIG difference.

Experts estimate Trump’s plan could unleash $11.1 trillion in new wealth. That’s more than twice what we saw under Reagan’s administration.

No wonder former Reagan adviser Arthur Laffer says: “This is just like Reagan... Once this thing starts [on Jan. 20], you will see people piling on and the prosperity will blow you away.”

Regardless of whether you’re Democrat, Independent or Republican, you could make a “yuge” fortune.

But here’s the thing: You don’t have to be rich to participate. In fact, you can get started with as little as $100.

The companies I’ve identified in this report have only two things in common:

1. They’re all tiny, unknown companies trading for pennies on the dollar.
2. Their sectors are set to benefit from Trump’s $11.1 trillion bonanza.

Of course, when it comes to making money in penny stocks, it can be hard to know which to buy and when to buy them. But we already know Trump’s game plan.

---

Even the mainstream media are starting to report on this amazing moneymaking trend. But don't expect the likes of CNN to tell you which penny stocks to buy to profit from this Trump bonanza.

Lucky for you, we've done our due diligence.

Here are the five best ways to profit from Trump's presidency:

Trump Penny Stock #1: Denbury Resources Inc. (NYSE: DNR)

The first sector that's set to explode under Trump is energy.

In fact, it's already happening.

During the first months of his presidency, Trump ended the war on coal with the stroke of a pen.

For years, the government has been hard at work trying to kill coal in favor of greener alternative energy.

Not anymore.

Trump signed an executive order in spring 2017 that rolls back Obama-era rules curbing carbon emissions. Specifically, Trump's order requires the EPA to repeal the Clean Power Plan — a hefty set of rules imposed on coal power plants.

Trump's reasoning behind the order is to "increase the nation's 'energy independence' and to restore thousands of lost coal mining jobs," The New York Times reports.

Whether the plan works is up for debate. The effect on coal stocks isn't... The big energy winner of 2016 wasn't oil, gas or solar. It was coal.

Anyone stuck on mainstream media reports wouldn't believe that dirty energy like coal could mint new fortunes these days. After all, conventional wisdom says coal is dying a slow death. Thanks to waves of new regulations, cheap natural gas and a push for cleaner energy sources, coal's going extinct.

But wait just a second...

The VanEck Vectors Coal ETF (NYSE: KOL), a major coal fund, finished 2016 with a gain of 98%. That's almost a clean double from one of the world's dirtiest energy sources.

If Trump can bring dirty ol' coal back from the dead, imagine what he can do for oil...

Of course, Trump has promised to build on the miracle of fracking to increase American's energy independence. He wants to help oil and gas companies by cutting regulation and encouraging more drilling.

As a result, companies in the energy sector are ready to explode higher.

That's why you need to check out Denbury Resources Inc. (NYSE: DNR). This little-known independent oil and gas exploration firm is already starting to streak higher thanks to a recovery in the price of oil.

But it's still trading for less than $2 right now.

That gives you a shot at getting on board as Trump slashes regulations standing in the way of these companies growing and meeting America's energy needs.

We doubt DNR stays below $2 much longer. The "dirty energy" comeback is already in full swing. As Trump unveils his tax cuts, tiny oil exploration firms like DNR could explode even higher...

Trump Opportunity: Denbury Resources Inc. (NYSE: DNR)

Please note that we will not be tracking DNR in our official portfolio.

---

Trump Penny Stock #2: LightPath Technologies (NASDAQ: LPTH)

Trump made headlines when he reached a deal with Carrier to keep 1,000 jobs in the U.S.

It's part of his plan to make U.S. manufacturing great again.

And this stock trading for just $2 is right in the thick of it...

Check out LightPath Technologies (NASDAQ: LPTH).

This tiny stock is a picture-perfect play in the good ol' US of A! Not only is its headquarters here in the U.S., but the company also boasts a massive production floor for automated manufacturing in sunny Florida.

American workers aren't the only folks benefitting from Trump's plans to boost manufacturing. LightPath isn't just a great American company — it sells its optical components all over the world. Its products are used in the medical device industry, data storage, telecom, industrial sensors and defense.

With a share price just above $2, LPTH is one of the cheapest ways to take advantage of America's great manufacturing comeback.

The waiting is over. With Trump's new tax plan in sight, the writing is on the wall.

Experts at Goldman Sachs predict that 2018 will deliver more positive economic surprises. Alert market watchers who find the most explosive tiny stocks set to take advantage of a red-hot economy have the best chance of hitting it big in 2018!

We wouldn't be surprised if this stock blasts higher the day Trump implements his tax reforms.

Trump Opportunity: LightPath Technologies (NASDAQ: LPTH)

Please note that we will not be tracking LPTH in our official portfolio.

Trump Penny Stock #3: Neptune Wellness Solutions Inc. (NASDAQ: NEPT)

During the campaign, Hillary Clinton was very critical of drug companies and promised sector regulation.

Yet Trump wants to cut regulation.

No wonder Forbes called biotech stocks "the great Donald Trump trade."

And the top biotech on my radar right now is Neptune Wellness Solutions Inc. (NASDAQ: NEPT).

Neptune is a leading provider of omega-3 polyunsaturated fatty acids.

Omega-3s help support cardiovascular, cognitive, respiratory, vision, joint and dermatological health. That's why doctors have recommended their usage for years.

The primary source for omega-3 is fish oil. But despite its long track record, the omega-3 dietary and supplement market is large and (still) growing on a global basis.

An investment in Neptune focuses on the fastest-growing segment of the market — krill oil.

Krill are tiny, shrimplike crustaceans found in oceans throughout the world. Despite only being 1–5 centimeters in length, collectively, they're the most abundant marine biomass on the planet. And they're fast becoming the preferred alternative for omega-3s because of their many benefits (higher nutrient concentration, ease of digestion, lack of contaminants).

However, compared with fish oil, the extraction process for krill oil isn't as easy. It's a delicate process, as many of its nutrients are extremely sensitive to heat.

---

And that's where Neptune's expertise comes in.

In 2003, Neptune uncovered (and patented) a superior process for extracting oils from Antarctic krill.

The end result?

Neptune's process gives distributors a premium omega-3 product that offers higher levels of nutrients, a milder aroma and up to seven times more astaxanthin — a “super” antioxidant shown to be 300 times more potent than vitamins E and A.

As such, Neptune represents the company with the highest-quality product in this rapidly growing market.

After a series of unfortunate events — including a plant explosion and CEO turnover — the company finally reached an important patent agreement, marking the end of a multi-year battle to defend its unique extraction process.

The settlement clears the way for the company to focus on the business at hand, in which share prices should resume trading in lock step with the underlying improving fundamentals.

In the most recent quarter, Neptune reported sales of $11.3 million — up 270% over the previous year and 18% over the previous quarter.

More importantly, the company reported its second consecutive quarter of positive, adjusted EBITDA.

When the company reports results again, I fully expect management to provide evidence of plans to expand into new markets.

Add in a virtually untapped market for krill in China and there are more than enough growth opportunities to fuel double-digit sales expansion for the foreseeable future.

Here's the kicker... While Neptune focuses on the nutritional side of the market, the company has a 40% stake in the pharmaceutical benefits of krill oil via an investment in Acasti Pharma Inc. (NASDAQ: ACST).

Acasti is a biotech focusing on the research, development and commercialization of therapies for the treatment of various cardiometabolic disorders (diabetes, heart disease or stroke). Its leading candidate is CaPre, a prescription formulation of krill oil for the prevention and treatment of cardiometabolic disorders such as hypertriglyceridemia.

From an investment standpoint, we're getting the reliability of a nutrition business, plus the upside of a biotech (a key beneficiary of Trump's proposed policies). As a result, we consider the company one of the lowest-risk investments on our list. Especially given the valuation and steadily improving fundamentals.

The turnaround in the business is underway — it's only a matter of time before the same can be said about the share price.

Trump Opportunity: Neptune Wellness Solutions Inc. (NASDAQ: NEPT)

Please note that we will not be tracking NEPT in our official portfolio.

Trump Penny Stock #4: BTL Group Ltd. (CVE: BTL.V)

You've probably heard of bitcoin — the ultra-popular cryptocurrency that burst onto the scene in 2009.

But most folks have absolutely no idea about the secret technology that makes bitcoin transactions so secure, called blockchain.

This decentralized ledger system is so secure that countless other industries are lining up to adopt this technology.

For example...

-
- The United States military is testing blockchain to help secure everything from nuclear weapons to military satellites
  - Banks are testing blockchain to manage transactional gridlock occurring inside the $26 billion repo market
  - Goldman Sachs recently filed a new blockchain patent in an effort to secure its dominant banking position.

No wonder Business Insider calls it a “$4.2 trillion opportunity” that could “completely overhaul financial services.”

And of all the pure plays to be made on blockchain right now, BTL Group Ltd. (CVE: BTL.V) is the strongest candidate for major profit. Deeply entrenched in the ongoing expansion of blockchain technology and enjoying an incredibly bullish Donald Trump tail wind, the company focuses on international remittance payments — a $550 billion industry.

You see, Donald Trump has vowed to “issue a temporary moratorium on new agency regulations.” He’s also threatened to dismantle the Dodd-Frank Act, saying it “has made it impossible for bankers to function.”

In other words, he’s clearing the way for more financial innovation, which is ideal for proliferating the use of blockchain technology.

Rest assured, forces far greater than Donald Trump are driving the opportunity.

But on the heels of Trump’s victory, the blockchain situation is wound incredibly tight, like a spring.

With its cross-border settlement technology called Interbit, BTL aims to disrupt the industry by using blockchain technology to shorten transaction times and lower fees.

Doing so would effectively box out traditional remittance services from the market.

To help achieve this, BTL acquired a company called Xapcash in February 2016 — which specializes in online and in-store payment processing for remittance services.

BTL plans to use Xapcash to tap into Canada’s $24 billion remittance market by offering blockchain-based technology to send payments around the globe.

What’s more, BTL entered into a project with Visa Europe in September 2016 to explore new applications for blockchain technology within the financial services industry.

The company’s plan to dominate the global remittance market is still in its early stages and we’ll monitor its progress as it does so.

Much like Amazon in the early 1990s, this company is attempting to define an entirely new way of doing business — and completely disrupt the established financial world order in the process.

Since we’re experiencing exponential growth in the industry, this could be your chance to get in on a future blue chip stock.

Early investors have the best chance of scooping the biggest profits from this truly life-changing trend.

Trump Opportunity: BTL Group Ltd. (CVE: BTL.V)

Please note that we will not be tracking BTL.V in our official portfolio.

Trump Penny Stock #5: Air Industries Group (NYSE: AIRI)

Air Industries Group (NYSE: AIRI) is a small defense contractor poised to benefit from the huge additional defense spending promised by Donald Trump.

---

How much more spending can we expect under Trump?

Well, most analysts are using the 2012 budget for guidance. That's the last defense budget before gridlock brought the "sequestration" and lower military budgets. And that budget called for nearly $1 trillion in additional spending over 10 years.

And Trump's eventual defense budget could be larger than that!

While Trump has said that he wants to create a 350-ship Navy and add 100 fighters, he hasn't laid out exactly where he intends to spend.

Plus, he's been critical about some specific military programs, including the new Air Force One and the massively overrun F-35 fighter program.

So when choosing how to profit from the coming Trump defense surplus, it's important not to get too attached to any single program. Especially when one angry tweet could destroy your investment overnight!

That's what makes Air Industries Group an excellent option.

There aren't many tiny defensive stocks out there. But AIRI is perfectly positioned to benefit from this boom — even though this company trades for just about $1.

It's one of the only tiny publicly traded companies working alongside defense juggernauts such as Northrop Grumman and Lockheed Martin.

Now, those large contractors can provide a significant portion of revenue. But the revenue is divided among a variety of programs, which provides some diversity.

What's unique about the company is that it manufactures components of systems necessary for modern warfare such as landing gear and flight controls. So no matter what defense company wins a contract, that company will likely turn to AIRI to complete a product.

What does all this mean? In short, AIRI will benefit from the coming defense buildout in the United States — without experiencing any fallout from profiteering or waste by the huge contractors.

In fact, it's the only way you can get in on the coming military spending boom without forking over a ton of cash to buy shares. The stock is trading for a little more than a buck a share after slipping lower in early 2017.

With a beaten-down stock and a Trump spending spree on the horizon, the future is bright for this tiny company.

Trump Opportunity: Air Industries Group (NYSE: AIRI)

Please note that we will not be tracking AIRI in our official portfolio.

