Private Investment Management

The Private Investment Management (PIM) program is structured to allow your Portfolio Manager to make discretionary investment decisions on your behalf - based on your risk tolerance and financial objectives.

When selecting the securities for your account, your Portfolio Manager conducts a detailed analysis of companies, industries and overall economic conditions.

In managing the account, your Portfolio Manager constructs a suitable asset allocation strategy based on their personal investment style. The construction process attempts to maximize returns while minimizing risk to the overall account.

Risk Managed Growth

The Risk Managed Growth strategy consists of selecting the top five Vanguard mutual funds each quarter based on scores from our technical research provider. The scoring is solely based on trend analysis and relative strength.

The goal of the strategy is for capital appreciation with the intent of capturing a long, sustainable trend of any investment category. The strategy may access any market in our universe, which includes U.S. stocks, international stocks, Bonds, and certain market sectors.

An additional "Layer" added to this strategy is the tracking of the Money Market Percentile Rank. It is a measurement of the strength of the Money Market asset class versus all other classes that are tracked. This strategy is set to react to market conditions and move into cash.

Relative Strength is a measure of price trends that indicates how a stock is performing relative to other stocks in its industry.

A trend analysis is an aspect of technical analysis that tries to predict the future movement of a stock based on past data. There is no assurance that these movements or trends can or will be duplicated in the future
