

QUIZ ONE—QUESTIONS

Question 1 of 9

AHRQ will consider a PSO's policies and procedures sufficient if the PSO repeatedly states that the PSO workforce is to conduct all activities "in accordance with the Patient Safety Rule."

Choose one:

True

False

Question 2 of 9

A PSO can meet its qualified staff requirement by relying upon an outside contractor that employs medical professionals.

Choose one:

True

False

Question 3 of 9

A PSO's outside legal counsel cannot be considered a member of a PSO's workforce.

Choose one:

True

False

Question 4 of 9

If information could improve patient safety, health care quality, or health care outcomes, it can always become patient safety work product (PSWP) through reporting to the PSO.

Choose one:

True

False

QUIZ ONE—QUESTIONS

Question 5 of 9

Information collected in a provider's patient safety evaluation system (PSES) is always considered PSWP, even if a provider has not documented or dated it.

Choose one:

True

False

Question 6 of 9

A provider can protect information in its PSES that was assembled or developed for purposes other than reporting to a PSO by dating and documenting the information.

Choose one:

True

False

Question 7 of 9

If information is not included in the medical record, it can always become PSWP.

Choose one:

True

False

Question 8 of 9

An operating room nurse observes a mistake by a physician during an operation that leads to patient harm. Upon request from the hospital's risk management department, the nurse prepares a written statement documenting her observations of an adverse event. The nurse's original written statement cannot become PSWP.

Choose one:

True

False

QUIZ ONE—QUESTIONS

Question 9 of 9

Affiliated providers can share PSWP with each other without limit.

Choose one:

True

False

AHRQ Publication No. 17-0048-1-EF
September 2017

