

Chase Privileges Debit Card

Simplify the management of household and other daily expenses.

The Chase Privileges Debit card allows individuals you authorize to have controlled access to funds in your J.P. Morgan checking account, allowing them to make debit card purchases anywhere Visa cards are accepted or to withdraw cash at ATMs worldwide.

The cards can be given to family members as an easy way to manage an allowance. It can also be given to household staff or other employees whose duties require having access to petty cash and/or making purchases on behalf of you or your family. Each card bears the name of the individual; however, monthly spending and withdrawal limits are set and controlled by you.

EASY TO IMPLEMENT

There is no limit to the number of cards you can authorize. On your monthly statements, transactions of each cardholder will be tracked separately. Or, if you prefer, the card can be linked to a separate checking account set up solely for this purpose. The cardholder(s) you designate do not have access to your account information.

There are no fees or costs associated with setting up a Chase Privileges Debit Card:

- No annual or monthly service fees
- No out-of-network ATM fees¹
- No foreign exchange fees¹

Furthermore, it's easy to arrange. Simply ask your service team to add the card to your account. Or, set up a separate account.

MAKING LIFE EASIER WITH A “NANNY” CARD

“We gave a Privileges card to our nanny,” said one client, who chose to set up a separate checking account for the nanny. “This lets me quickly see what’s going on.”

She sees this as one of the card’s primary benefits. “It can be difficult to feel in control of things when I’m away from home all day.”

The card also gives the nanny some autonomy. “She can decide to put gas in the car, stop at the market or take my daughter to a movie,” the client notes. And on days when the nanny needs more cash, the client simply asks her service team to temporarily raise the limit on the nanny’s account.

HELPING YOUR CHILDREN MANAGE A BUDGET

“We use the Privileges card to help our teenage children manage their allowances each month.” For this client, the card is an effective money management tool for 14-year-old twins. “If they spend all their money at the beginning of the month, they know they won’t have lunch money by month-end.”

The card also helps him address safety concerns in a way that effectively bridges the generation gap. “This is safer than carrying a lot of cash or making withdrawals at an ATM—although the card lets them do that,” he says. “And cash isn’t that important to kids their age. They can do what they want with a debit card.”
