SECTION II - TRAINING PAY INFORMATION

Based on your Social Security Number (SSN), the Defense Manpower Data Center (DMDC) has identified you as having been a reservist or guardsman during the fiscal year indicated below. Please verify that the Social Security number shown above is your correct Social Security number. If it is not, please enter the correct number. Also, please enter your telephone number above.

By law, active or inactive duty training pay can't be paid at the same time you're receiving VA disability compensation or pension benefits. You may decide to keep the training pay you received from your military branch. However, to keep your training pay, you must waive your VA benefits for the same number of days as the number of days you received training pay. Usually, it's to your advantage to waive benefits and keep your training pay.

Please enter the number of days for which you received training pay below.

FISCAL YEAR	TRAINING DAYS

NOTE: A fiscal year runs from October 1 through September 30. For example, fiscal year 2017 runs from October 1, 2016 through September 30, 2017.

Please note that the National Guard and Reserves report one full day's duty pay for each 4-hour session of training you attend. That means they may credit you with 4 days' worth of training for a 2-day drill weekend. The National Guard and Reserves pay most of their members for about 63 training days during a fiscal year. That included 48 armory drills or training sessions, and 15 days of active training.

Please fill out this form, sign it, have your unit commander or commander's designee sign it, and return it to one of the 3 addresses listed on page 3.

SECTION IV - CERTIFICATION AND SIGNATURE

If we do not receive a waiver from you, we will assume that you wish to waive VA compensation or pension for the number of days printed on the front of the form. However, we will not adjust your award until we have advised you of the specific changes we propose to make.

NOTE: In the past you may have filed a one-time waiver of disability benefits which was to remain in effect until your reserve/guard status changed or you withdrew the waiver. That waiver is no longer valid. Annual waivers are again required.
