I Think I Think Too Much
Sean Bertram

A:
I think I'm falling but how could I know?
I think I might be blind when my eyes are closed
I think I love you but I'm in no rush
'Cause I think that I think too much

A:
I'm probably just a needle in your haystack heart
And I don't think you've got the time to tear yourself apart
I'd love to be wrong but when I think I'm in luck
I start thinking that I think too much

B:
All my bags are packed but I don't know what to do
Should I run away or should I run to you?

A:
I think I'm dreaming when I answer the phone
And I feel your voice start skipping my heartbeats like stones
I think I misheard you but I won't interrupt
'Cause I think that I think too much

B:
All my bags are packed but I don't know what to do
Should I run away or should I run to you?

A:
I think I'm crazy when I step off the train
And you rush into my arms like a hurricane
I start to stutter but you shut me right up
And tell me I don't have to think so much

No there's no reason I should think so much
Unless it's about your love now baby
Oh no longer will I think too much
