Drawing Skills 1

ISN'T LEARNING TO WRITE MORE IMPORTANT THAN LEARNING TO DRAW?

Kids have so much to learn these days, so why focus on learning to draw? Not only is drawing a form of self-expression and creativity, but it's very important for learning. You basically need to break down what you want to draw into parts, work out what to do first and then put it together on the paper. It's about learning the skills of planning, organisation and attention to detail. Now we all want great pictures for to put up on the fridge, but it's just as important when kids get to school. They need to know how to draw shapes and graphs for maths, maps for geography and flowcharts for science.

SO WHY NOT JUST DRAW ON A BLANK SHEET OF PAPER?

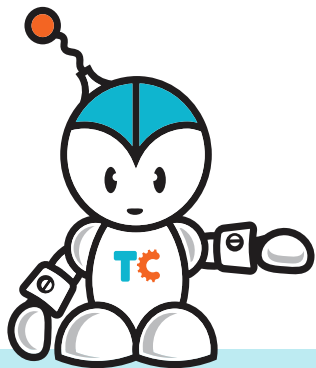

Some kids with limited pencil control get frustrated when what they're drawing doesn't look right. They may give up, get frustrated or flatly refuse to do it. These worksheets are designed to give the kids rewards for their efforts. Instead of the kids asking us to do it for them, they get a completed picture which looks like it's supposed to.

What do I need?

- Print the pages
- Pencils
- Crayons
- Markers
- Quiet place to work

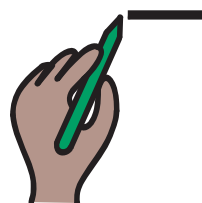

Where do I start with my child?

The worksheets are ordered from easy to hard. Choose sheets based on topics that your child is interested in or start at the beginning and work your way through. They are designed to not look perfect, so it looks like you get to finish what someone else has already started.

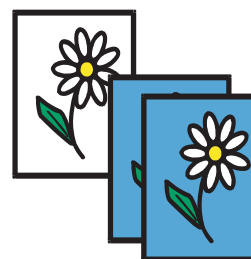

TIPS FOR HELPING

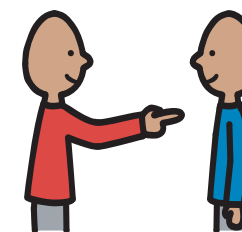

Point to the symbols in the speech box and tell your child what they need to draw. Cross them off as you go.

Demonstrate on the paper how to form the line or shape.

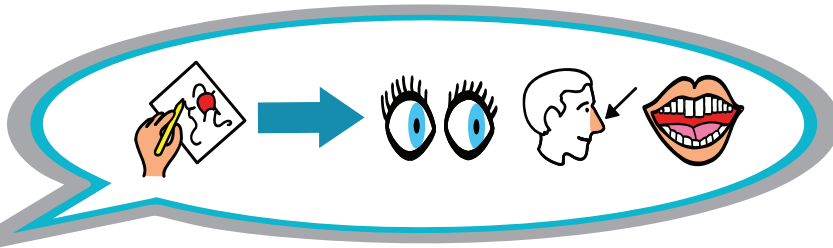

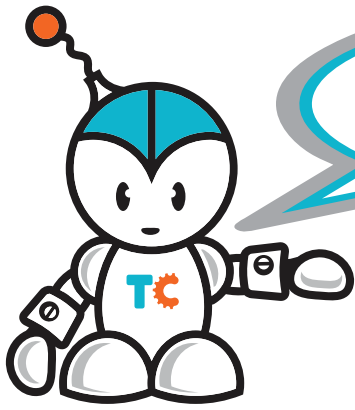

Print two copies of the sheet, do one step at a time to show your child what they need to do.

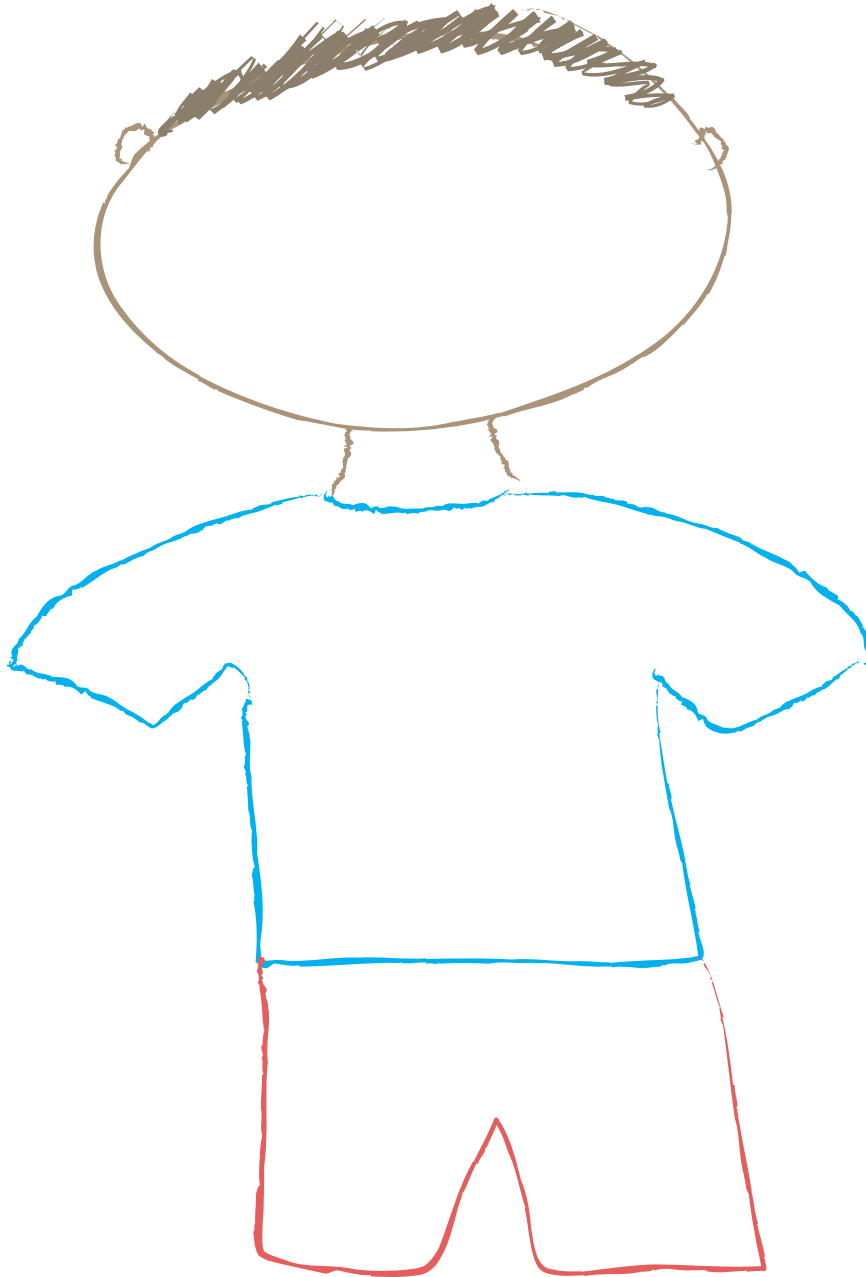

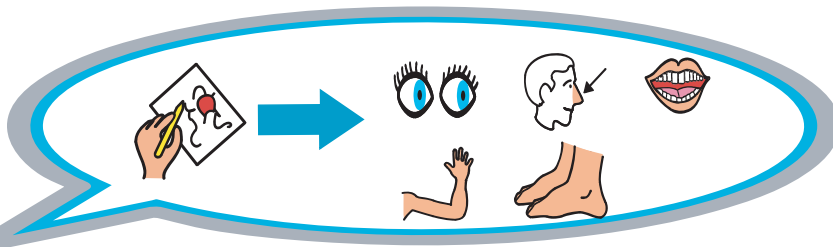

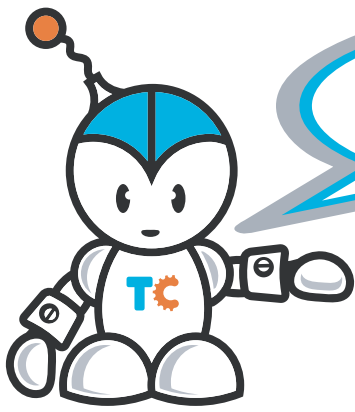

For kids that are very resistant to trying, get them to be the boss & tell you what to draw. It mimics the planning and attention to detail steps.

OTHER IDEAS

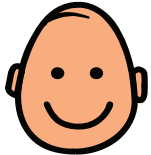

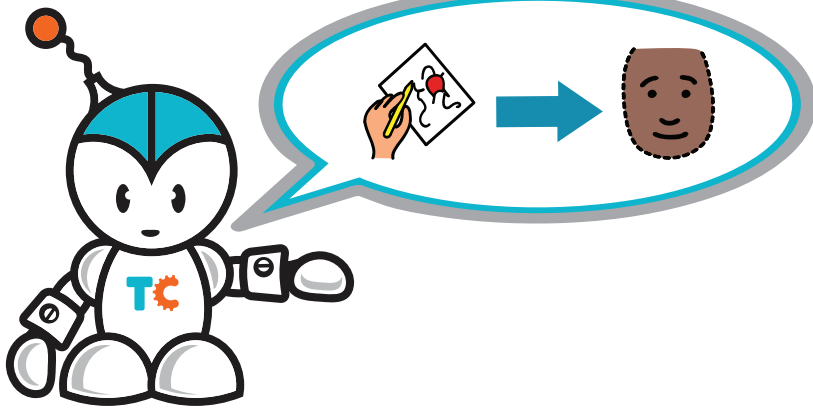

Laminate the sheets and you can use them over and over again. Don't just work at the table, put them up on the whiteboard or easel.
