Prior Tax Year Wages Details Screen

Prior Tax Year Wage Details WAGE INFORMATION

To compute the amount of your weekly entitlement for Pandemic Unemployment Assistance, indicate all of the wages you earned working for an employer, as well as earnings you made while being self employed during the prior tax year, January 1, 2019 through December 31, 2019. The wage information must be provided on a quarterly basis.

If you are an unemployed worker, you may submit a pay stub or voucher you received at the time of the pandemic, earnings statement or a written statement from your employer showing you were employed at the time of the pandemic.

If you are self-employed, you will need to provide your federal income tax Form 1040 and schedule C, F, or SE federal income tax returns for the most recent completed tax year. You will also have to provide one of the following (property titles, deeds or rental agreement for the place of business; recent business bank, phone, utility, or insurance bill; or recent sales tax return) to prove existence of your business at the time of the pandemic.

You must provide proof of your employment/self-employment at the time of the pandemic. If proof of employment/self-employment cannot be provided at the time the claim is filed, you have 21 calendar days from the date the claim is filed to meet this requirement. Failure to submit this documentation within 21 days will result in a denial of PUA, and any benefits already paid will be considered overpaid. You will be required to repay any benefits overpaid.

If you are a farmer, you will need to provide your federal income tax Form 1040 and schedule C, F, or SE federal income tax returns for the most recent completed tax year. You will also have to provide one of the following (property titles, deeds or rental agreement for the place of business; recent business bank, phone, utility, or insurance bill; seed, feed or fertilizer bill dated at the time of the pandemic) to prove existence of your business at the time of the pandemic.

Regarding PUA payments to crop farmers, we must look at what the usual and customary activities would be for the current period in the crop season. Your ability to perform field work is dictated by the stage of the crop. Once the period or periods end where you would have been working, if not for the pandemic, you are no longer unemployed directly due to the pandemic, but due to the normal or customary inactivity because of seasonality or other work patterns.

However, at the point in time you would again continue your farm operations (harvest of the crop), you would be eligible to again receive PUA until the end of the harvest season because this is another period when you would again be unemployed due to the same pandemic. In other words, the denial of PUA payments during the dead period does not mean you would not be eligible for PUA payments again during the normal harvest period.

Important Weekly Request for Payment Filing Instructions Screen

The screenshot shows the UINTERACT Missouri's Online Unemployment System interface. The user is logged in as Jared Brockman. The main heading is "Important Weekly Request for Payment Filing Instructions". Below this, there is a section titled "File Weekly Request for Payments" with instructions on how to file and a list of questions to be asked on the form. A "Reporting Earnings" section follows, explaining that users must report work during the week and providing an example calendar for January 2009. A "Next" button is visible at the bottom right of the main content area.

Important Weekly Request for Payment Filing Instructions

File Weekly Request for Payments

Each week you are unemployed you need to file a Weekly Request for Payment for unemployment benefits. The week begins on Sunday and ends at midnight on the following Saturday. Below are some of the questions you will be asked on the Weekly Request for Payments:

- Did you do any work during the week?
- Were you physically able to work each day of the week?
- Were you available for work each day of the week?
- Enter number of work search contacts made during the week.

It is your responsibility to file your Weekly Request for Payments in a timely manner. Your Weekly Request for Payment can be filed Sunday through Saturday. To be considered timely, Weekly Request for Payments must be filed no later than Saturday by midnight. Weekly Request for Payments may be filed online at www.moibenefits.com.

Failure to file your Weekly Request for Payments on a timely manner may result in a delay or denial of benefits.

Reporting Earnings

If you perform any work during the week you are claiming unemployment benefits, you are required to report that work on that Weekly Request for Payment. Gross earnings are to be reported for the week you actually performed the work, and not when you are paid for the work.

Example:

January 2009
Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
			1	2	3
4	5	6	7	8	9	10
11	12	13	14	15	16	17
18	19	20	21	22	23	24
25	26	27	28	29	30	31

If you worked Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday as shown above, you would report your gross earnings (i.e. multiply the number of hours you worked times your hourly rate of pay), on the Weekly Request for Payment for week ending January 10, 2009.

*Failure to properly report any earnings may result in an overpayment, garnishment of future wages, disqualification for benefits, and/or prosecution.
